

City's 'Piece of Cake'

Finishing touches on a 100-foot-long Saanich birthday cake at Mattick's Farm in honor of Victoria's centenary were applied today by head "icer" Mrs. Mary Ford of Woolworth's. Cake cutting takes place at 8.30 tonight.

Festivities start at 6 p.m. today and 2 p.m. Wednesday. Square dancing for all comers starts Wednesday at 8 p.m. Trophies will be awarded for tug-o-war and horseshoe pitching. See also Page 17.

Cost of Living Soars To Record High Mark

OTTAWA (CP) — Living costs rose to a record high in April as the consumer price index advanced to 130.3 on April 1 from 129.7 on March 1.

ROCKETSHIP SURVIVES HEAT TEST

EDWARD AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—Maj. Bob Rushworth piloted the X-15 rocket ship through a scorching heat test today and safely withstood a temperature of 1,250 degrees Fahrenheit that could burn a man to a crisp. The X-15 soared through the air at a top speed of 3,511 miles an hour—or more than three times the speed of sound.

Contract Loggers Pulled Out

DUNCAN — The Hillcrest Lumber Co. at Mesachie Lake today withdrew from the woods a private contractor and his 10 men who were employed Monday to boost the company's depleted log supply.

This is the latest development in the drawn-out transportation dispute between the company and the Duncan-Nanaimo IWA local.

Hector Stone, president of the company, said the outside workers were withdrawn when 18 union loggers who live in the camp refused to work if "Chum" Carley and his men were allowed to work.

The 18 loggers did not go back to work after the contractor had withdrawn his men, but held a meeting with union officials, according to reports.

Weldon Jubenville, president of the IWA local, declined to comment.

But he reported he met regional members of the association in Vancouver Monday and the union is now considering its next move.

The dispute arose in January when the company withdrew its free bus service between Duncan and Hillcrest. Since then 70 loggers have refused to return to work until the service is restored.

The rise of six-tenths of a point in Canada's yardstick of prices, reported today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, was the sharpest monthly increase since the fall of 1960.

The April 1 index level of 130.3 — based on 1949 prices equaling 100 — compares with 129.1 a year earlier. The month's increase followed four months of relative price stability during which the previous record high of 129.8 was set in December and February.

Higher food and health-care costs were the main factors behind the latest increase. But five of the seven component parts of the overall price increase were higher — food, clothing, transportation, health and personal care, and tobacco and alcohol.

HOUSING COSTS SAME

There was no change in the index of housing costs, which represents 32 per cent of the household budget covered by the consumer price index.

Food prices advanced sharply, with the index jumping to 125.8 from 124.4, with price tags higher on most fruits and vegetables, beef, some pork items, chicken and eggs. Prices were lower for bread, frozen orange juice, fresh tomatoes, chocolate bars and fats including butter.

The rise in the over-all price index followed a strong increase in industrial wages during February. The index of average wages rose to 129.8 from 129.4 in January.

FURY REACHES PEAK

Wipe Out OAS Order Likely By Moslems

(Times News Services)
ALGIERS — Angered over the wave of terror killings since the March 18 cease-fire, the Algerian rebel government will broadcast orders to Moslems Wednesday that may call for wiping out the European Secret Army.

The scheduled broadcast from Tunis by rebel President Ben Youssef Ben Khedda reflects the mounting fury of Algerian leaders over the daily slaughter of Moslems in Algiers and Oran by European terrorists of the Secret Army.

A rebel spokesman said Ben Khedda would announce "directives" to put into effect the cease-fire agreement signed by France and the Algerian nationalists. He said they might deal with "liquidation" of the Secret Army.

The European terrorists resumed their attacks early today, killing 16 Moslems in Algiers and wounding 11 others within a few hours. One European also was wounded.

Witnesses said three of today's casualties were Moslems sitting drinking wine on a curb in central Algiers, who were shot at by other Moslems. One was killed and two were wounded.

It was not known whether their attackers were working for the Secret Army or were simply attacking their fellow Arabs for drinking wine in defiance of the Moslem ban on alcohol.

The terrorist Secret Army Organization for the first time Monday singled out Moslem women for attacks.

Of the 30 persons killed throughout Algeria during the day, four of them were white-robed Moslem women. Their deaths stretched already-taut Moslem nerves even tighter.

Previously any male Moslem who ventured into a European neighborhood was taking his life in his hands. But Moslem women had been relatively safe.

LYNCH EUROPEAN
About 300 Moslems surged out of the Casbah Monday and lynched a European before being driven back by French riot police. At least eight Europeans were kidnapped, apparently by Moslems.

In Tunis, well-informed Algerian sources said a new Franco-Algerian conference may be needed to decide on how to combat the Secret Army, but the sources said there was no question of unilateral action by the Algerians.

U.K. Asks 'On Spot' Laos Probe

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts of Britain discussed the Communist capture of the Laotian town of Nam Tha with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today.

In a meeting arranged on instructions from the British foreign office, Roberts and Gromyko met for 20 minutes. Britain and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference on Laos.

In London Monday the foreign office described the capture of the strategic town as a "serious breach" of the Laotian cease-fire. It said it hoped the Communists would allow the three-nation international control commission — India, Poland and Canada — to make an on-the-spot investigation.

Rightist Forces On Run

VIETNAME (AP) — The defense ministry announced tonight that pro-Communist forces are chasing remnants of the royal garrison of Nam Tha southwestward on the road toward Houei Sai, the government's last stronghold in northern Laos.

Government forces were crushed in a three-hour battle Monday at Vieng Phou Khe, which is 40 miles southwest of Nam Tha, a commune said.

As a result, it added, "our troops, harassed by a long forced march, withdrew" farther toward Houei Sai, a garrison town opposite the northern tip of pro-Western Thailand.

Though the United States has denied previous reports that Red China is involved, the defense ministry declared the pursuing forces includes both Red Chinese and Communist North Vietnamese.

Acting Foreign Minister Sisouk Nakhompassak said Rebel Pathet Lao troops were within 20 miles of Houei Sai.

He said the pro-Communist troops were "pushing their way" from Nam Tha along the road to Houei Sai, 100 miles to the southwest, indicating that they had covered 80 miles in two days since they captured Nam Tha, a provincial capital.

Sisouk did not pinpoint the identity of the advancing troops but he had claimed earlier that at least 10 North Vietnamese and Red Chinese battalions took part in the attack on Nam Tha.

U.S. sources said there has been no confirmation that Chinese Communist troops were in the fighting at Nam Tha, 20 miles south of the Chinese border. They said Pathet Lao troops included Chinese-speaking Lu tribesmen.

Just how long she will be in the prison was not disclosed.

JFK Hits Unfair Labor Demands

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — President Kennedy today told U.S. labor today that "unjust wage demands which require price increases" are as much against the interests of the United States as "unjustified profit demands which require price increases."

Kennedy said "I speak with a single voice to the men on both sides of the nation's bargaining tables when I say that your sense of responsibility—the responsibility of both labor and management to the general public—is the foundation on which our hopes must build for the survival and success of the free enterprise system."

The president told the United Auto Workers convention his administration would not undertake to fix prices and wages in a peacetime economy, but that it must define goals and point out the national interest. "But we possess and seek no powers of compulsion," said Kennedy, adding that the U.S. government must mainly rely on the voluntary efforts of labor and business to hold the price line.

SAME STANDARD
Thus within a month of his successful battle to force big steel to rescind its price increases, Kennedy has advised big labor the same standard will be applied to wage increases—the public interest.

But as he tried to soothe businessmen's concern over his steel price tactics eight days ago when he spoke to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Kennedy today attempted to allay labor's concern over his administration's close patrolling of wage contracts.

"We have no intention of intervening in every labor dispute," he said. "We are neither able nor willing to substitute our judgment for the judgment of those who sit at every local bargaining table in the country."

The government must rely on a sense of public responsibility and Kennedy told the

Least Hike Of All Local Areas

By JOHN MIKA

City council today set a centennial year tax levy totalling 55 mills—up only 1.6 mills from last year.

Council emphasized that this would cost the taxpayer public only $147,000 more than last year—virtually equal to a $125,000 wage increase this year and a drop in property assessments.

Aside from those two factors, council was able to squeeze an extra $50,000 for centennial celebrations and $50,000 for urban renewal out of roughly the same funds it used to operate the city last year.

$55,000 CUT

Aldermen sliced thin amounts from a wide assortment of votes, and boosted one revenue estimate, to reduce the expenditure requirement by $55,000—bringing Friday's 2.2 mill increase down by 6/10ths of a mill.

City officials pointed out that mill rates were not an accurate comparison of the four municipal budgets here because assessments went down in the city and up in the others.

They said the total tax dollar increases levied on ratepayers would make a good guide—pointing to the $544,000 tax dollar increase in Saanich this year and $86,000 in Esquimalt. Oak Bay's figures are unknown.

"Our increase in dollars taken from taxpayers this year is only one-third as high as in Saanich and not much more than in Esquimalt," the mayor said later.

LOWEST BOOST

City comptroller-treasurer James Bramley did not work out the percentage increases but it was obvious that Victoria might have the lowest relative increase this year. That's because its $147,000 tax increase looks modest alongside a total budget over $10,000,000—more than the combined budgets of the other three municipalities.

Correspondingly, Esquimalt's $86,000 increase comes on top of a budget totalling only $925,500, enabling the municipality to collect more dollars while using the same 29 mills it levied last year.

BORROWING PLAN

Council beat back a drive by Ald. Arthur Dowell and Ald. M. H. Mooney in the closing minutes of the session aimed at cutting the city budget still further and asking ratepayer approval to borrow for various new projects.

Ald. J. L. W. McLean said that would only result in taxpayers paying more for normal expansion of city services because of interest charges.

He said borrowing should be restricted to big once-in-a-lifetime projects such as the proposed $800,000 Blanshard Street extension.

Army Dismissal For Smuggling

OTTAWA (CP)—S. Sgt. William John Harry Hockman, 38, today was dismissed from the armed services for his part in smuggling opium while on duty in Indochina last year with the international true supervisory commission.

The sentence was the heaviest imposed so far on any of the soldiers involved.

Earlier two corporals were demoted to privates and given jail terms and three soldiers were fined $100 each and given severe reprimands by their commandant in Indochina.

IN 'STUPID FRAME OF MIND'

Barbara Takes Long Walk

LONDON (Reuters)—Marathon walker Dr. Barbara Moore, 38, was sent to jail today for contempt of court.

Maj. Gen. Sir Kenneth Buchanan, who lives in the same building as Dr. Moore at nearby Frimley, had applied for the commitment order. He alleged that by putting flower pots, stones and a notice board in the forecourt of the building, Dr. Moore had broken an interlocutory injunction restraining her from interfering with his right to passage through the forecourt.

Dr. Moore, who conducted her own case, was in tears when she told the judge she "would rather go to prison" than remove the offending objects.

The judge said:

"I make the order with some regret because I am satisfied that Dr. Moore is in a stupid frame of mind at the present moment."

"When she has given a little more thought to it in the solitude which will fall upon her when she gets to Holloway (women's prison) she will no doubt come back to the court and give an undertaking to remove these stones, pots and notice board."

Just how long she will be in the prison was not disclosed.

U.S. Not 'Using' ECM Bid by U.K.

CANBERRA—State Secretary strengthen the whole free world. Rusk denied tonight that the United States is seeking to use its own advantage Britain's bid for membership in the six-nation European Common Market.

Rusk made the denial at a press conference following discussions on a wide range of political and military issues with Prime Minister Holyoake of New Zealand and External Affairs Minister Barwick of Australia.

The American also commented on developments in South Viet Nam, describing it as currently the most dangerous spot in the Pacific area.

The main purpose of Rusk's visit is to review relations among the ANZUS pact nations—the U.S., Australia and New Zealand.

In his comment on Britain's Common Market negotiations, Rusk said "any suggestion that we are indifferent to the problems of other countries or that we seek to use the U.K.-six negotiations to achieve special advantage for ourselves is utterly unfounded."

WANTS TRADE EXPANSION. The United States hopes Britain will be able to join the Common Market "on a basis which strengthens the unity and vitality of that community and, at the same time, takes full account of the need to expand international trade and safeguard the legitimate interests of non-member countries. Such a result would, in our view,

MILL RATE

Ald. Dowell maintained that a mill rate increase would kill chances of winning approval for any money bylaws this year.

DAMAGE FEARED
"We all want to keep taxes down but can come to a stage where cutting causes serious damage to the city," replied Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood. "I think we've gone as low as we can in the budget."

Ald. Austin Curtis pointed out that the increase "represents little more than the increase in wages and I'm sure we realize that has to be paid so the mill rate should stand where we have it now."

Aldermen spent the week-end mulling over ways of cutting deeper into the budget after finding Friday that the increase would total almost $200,000 following the first full run through all the estimates.

Department heads met Monday to see what cuts could be made and on their recommendations, aldermen this morning:

Boosted a revenue estimate for tax collections by $15,000; reduced by various amounts earlier votes for playground equipment, street benches, storm drains, street redevelopment, parks maintenance and contingencies.

Three Admit Break-In At View Royal

Three Victorians pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP court Monday afternoon to breaking and entering View Royal Pharmacy early Saturday morning.

They were remanded a week for probation report and sentence by Magistrate A. L. Thomas.

Police said David Goddard, 20, of 827 Vancouver, Robert M. Munro, 21, of 1115 Princess, and Frank Hanaka, 20, of 810 Esquimalt Road, entered the store by breaking a glass door panel and stole four wrist watches, a camera, less than $1 in change and some cigarettes.

All three admitted to Magistrate Thomas that they had "been in trouble before."

He ordered the probation report because "there is something radically wrong with these young people" and he wanted to know more about their backgrounds.

Bigger Wheat Crop Urged by Hamilton

GRENFELL, Sask. (CP)—Agriculture Minister Hamilton said Monday more than 375,000,000 bushels of wheat will be exported during the current crop year and the price will climb close to the ceiling of $2.19 set under the International Wheat Agreement.

"We are in a position now to know where the markets are," he told more than 300 persons. "Now we have to see if we can grow wheat again. That is why I have asked you for increased wheat acreage this year. We need at least 500,000,000 bushels of wheat this year."

It was Mr. Hamilton's first public appearance since Jan. 16 and his first major speech since Dec. 13. He showed little effect of a recent illness.

erage industrial wages and salaries at March 1—the latest date available—was 186.6 compared with 184.5 a month earlier and 181.1 a year earlier.

The rise of nearly one point in the index of health and personal care costs, to 158.1 from 157.2, resulted from higher fees for doctors, dentists and optical care, and higher prices for toilet soaps and men's haircuts.

The clothing index rose to 113.2 from 112.9, with higher prices for men's and children's wear, shoes and piece goods.

TRAVEL MORE COSTLY
Price increases for auto repairs and higher air travel fares boosted the transportation index to 140.2 from 139.9. There was a national decline in household operations costs resulting mainly from lower electricity rates in Vancouver and Victoria.

U.K. Backs U.S. Stand On Berlin

LONDON (AP)—Britain sided with the United States today in a disagreement developing between the United States and West Germany on the Berlin question.

U.S. Ambassador David Bruce called at the foreign office at his own request and conferred for a half hour with Foreign Secretary Home.

A foreign office spokesman told reporters Britain has been fully consulted on the line taken by the Americans in discussions with the Russians over Berlin and "fully agrees with it."

This comment came after Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany showed concern at the direction the American-Russian talks are taking. He said in West Berlin Monday any negotiations must not lead to any form of recognition of Communist East Germany.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States gave Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany a strong hint today that if he doesn't like U.S. ideas on how to break the Berlin deadlock with Russia, he ought to suggest another means.

'Mailmobile' To Serve Cordova Bay

A door-to-door mail delivery service has been approved by Ottawa for the Cordova Bay area, George Chatterton, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, announced today.

A post office now serves a total of 768 homes in the area known as Rural Route No. 4. As homes are somewhat scattered throughout the area, Mr. Chatterton said the post office will operate for the first time in the Greater Victoria area—a "mailmobile." The small car will deliver the mail to individual homes.

The carrier service will be instituted as soon as 80 per cent of the residents in the district have provided the necessary facilities for receiving the mail, he said.

The present post office at Cordova Bay will revert to a sub-post office, but arrangements are being made for it to provide special services, such as registered mail and COD parcels.

The new service is the result of requests made by residents a year ago for a service similar to the one provided to the Royal Oak area, Mr. Chatterton said.

'DIRTY JOB' IN OLD DAYS

New Democratic Party candidate Geoffrey Mitchell said Monday night it was "pretty dirty" being an RCMP officer under Liberal and Conservative governments in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Mitchell, running in Esquimalt-Saanich, was 30 years on the RCMP. He retired with the rank of staff sergeant and came to British Columbia in 1949.

"I was there under the Conservatives and Liberals," he told an election meeting. "I had, shall we say, a worm's eye view of what was going on, and it was pretty dirty."

"When the CCF came in, not once was I ashamed of my duties," he added.

'Give' And 'Take'

GRANBY, Que.—Pickpockets were busy during Prime Minister Diefenbaker's tour of the eastern townships of Quebec Monday, while later some person unknown was slipping cash into the pocket of an unsuspecting newspaper reporter.

In Cowansville, police received two complaints from people who claimed their wallets had been lifted. In Granby, 30 miles farther east, a Toronto reporter was rummaging through his outside jacket pocket after the political rally and found one plain sealed envelope.

It contained two $10 bills with no message of any kind. The reporter said he would give the money to Conservative officials.

There was no indication of any kind as to who his benefactor was, but he was the only reporter among the large group travelling with the prime minister who was singled out to receive the cash donation.

Everett Fire Flames Seen In Victoria

EVERETT (AP)—Fire destroyed the Eclipse Lumber Company mill and a large quantity of stored lumber Monday night.

Authorities said no one was hurt, although a workman who was in the plant when the fire broke out was treated for shock.

Bill Carpenter, one of the owners, estimated damage at $2,500,000 to $3,000,000.

Thousands of Victorians were witnesses to the effects of the Everett fire Monday night when the flames sent reflections that lit up the night sky to the southeast.

U.S. Actions Hit Says Tass

MOSCOW (AP)—Pro-Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam claim that two captured United States army sergeants denounced "U.S. aggressive schemes in South Viet Nam" before they were freed, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

The Sergeants, Francis Quinn, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and George E. Groom, of St. Joseph, Mo., were captured in South Viet Nam April 8, and released May 1. They said they made no deals to gain their freedom.

'GROSS MISMANAGEMENT' SAYS PEARSON

Tory Deficits Draw Grit's Ire

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

ESPAÑOLA, Ont.—Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson Monday ate a dozen donuts, four devilled egg sandwiches and two pieces of cake.

He drank 10 cups of coffee and numerous glasses of water.

He also chewed out the Progressive Conservative government for what he called its gross mismanagement and scandalous handling of Canada's affairs.

It was all part of the Liberal leaders' first day of election campaigning in his northern Ontario constituency of Algoma-East.

In the 12 hectic hours of touring 140 miles across his riding, his main objective was to "meet the folks" and at the nine stops he made he joined in all the local tea and cake receptions.

Short and Sharp

He made some of the shortest and sharpest speeches of his campaign.

He managed to tie the local interest in with the national interest.

He did this by directing the attention of his constituents to the economic slowdown they have experienced as a result of shrinking uranium markets—a crucial subject to the uranium district of Algoma-East.

The Liberal leader said the balanced budget promise was one of the four most important promises the Conservatives made but failed to carry out.

The other three were reduced expenditures, reduced taxation and end-to-unemployment.

The Liberal party had the real answers to these problems, Pearson said. The economy would be "humming again" under a Liberal government; and this would result in a greater tax base and return the government more revenue to pay for Liberal projects without any need for an increase in the level of taxation.

Gaining Favor

Earlier in the day, at Massey, he said it was because of such actions by the Conservatives that "a swing across the country" is developing in favor of the Liberals.

Pearson accused the Tories of failing to complete a sale of uranium to Britain which had been arranged in 1957. Either they couldn't or wouldn't complete the deal, he said.

"Perhaps they are waiting until the day before the election to announce it," he suggested.

"If so, it is a scandal if that's the way they are going to play with the international business of the country."

It was a sample, he said, of the "genious" the government had for "getting into difficulties with our friends in Washington and London."

Pearson also ticked off the government for running up $3 billion in deficits since it took power.

Budget Promise

This, he said, was a breach of one of the most solemn promises made by the Tories in their past election campaigns, to balance the budget.

"It is a charge on your future, on your children's and grandchildren's future," he declared. "I claim that's gross mismanagement of the nation's business."

meeting attended by some 300 in Espanola's Legion Hall, at the end of his first day of campaigning in Algoma-East.

In several places he scoffed at the "campaign-opening" speech delivered in London, Ont., by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

Pearson said the country could have expected some word on government plans to take the country out of economic difficulties, but got instead "nothing."

In his Espanola speech he bore down harder on the Diefenbaker speech.

Reason to Remember

Reports about the speech told how Diefenbaker was "wracking the Liberals," he said. Instead, Diefenbaker should have shown how he would "deal with the difficult problems facing us in the years ahead."

Pearson said he was able to understand why Diefenbaker went back to 1957 and 1958—is going to happen to him in 1962 he can take a great deal of pleasure out of going back to 1957 and 1958."

Turning angry, the Liberal leader accused Diefenbaker of making personal attacks against Liberals, including the late C. D. Howe, "who has passed on and is not here to defend himself."

"But his record of building Canada lives on," Pearson said. "He also is attacking Mr. Sharp (former deputy of Howe, and now Liberal candidate against Finance Minister Donald Fleming)."

It seems the trouble with Mr. Sharp is that he felt it his duty to try to get elected as a Liberal MP and help save this country.

Pearson laughed at Diefenbaker's reference to Pearson as a "flying saucer" who didn't know whether he was coming or going.

"I hope nobody calls me anything worse than that," said Pearson with a smile. "My wife has a couple of adjectives for him, but I won't say what they are because we Liberals don't believe in attacking persons."

Just before he arrived at Espanola, Pearson stopped at a highway bridge over the Kennebec River to hold a pow-wow with the local Indian chiefs over an Indian school problem.

ANOTHER REDUCTION in LONG DISTANCE STATION-TO-STATION RATES to POINTS EAST OF ALBERTA

While other things have been going up in price, long distance station-to-station calls to points east of Alberta have been coming down.

The latest reductions, effective on May 6, are the result of continuous efforts by the B.C. Telephone Company and other major telephone systems across Canada to provide the best in communications service at the lowest possible cost.

Below is a table showing the gradual reduction in rates over the years:

'Too Late For Reply,' Dief Told

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
(Times Ottawa-Bureau)

GRANBY—Prime Minister Diefenbaker carried his election campaign into the Province of Quebec Monday and encountered pickets demonstrating against unemployment.

He wound up his first day in the province addressing a rally at Granby in the Liberal riding of Shefford and concluded his speech with an impassioned plea to his audience to bear with him as he endeavored to speak French. The 1,000 people in the arena who had listened restlessly as he spoke English applauded strenuously his concluding sentences in French.

At Granby he found the streets lined with pickets protesting the shutdown of a Granby electrical plant. The enthusiasm of the audience was whipped up by furious French oratory delivered by Transport Minister Leon Balcer and Associate Defence Minister Pierre Sevigny in vigorous attacks and condemnation aimed at the previous Liberal administration.

Predicts Increased Employment

He forecast that there would be steadily increasing employment and improvement in the economy. He said that an examination of any financial page in any Canadian paper today revealed that the country was heading for a prosperous year, with greater exports, more employment and more jobs.

As the prime minister spoke the crowd grew less and less attentive and restless and several people—nearly 100—walked out while he was speaking. Residents of Granby explained that the majority of the crowd was made up of French farmers and that many did not understand English well enough to follow the prime minister.

Mr. Diefenbaker in closing said that in Prince Albert there were many French-Canadians. They had been his friends and had tried to get him to pronounce French properly. "But it just can't be done," he said with a smile, and the audience laughed and applauded.

"But somehow we understood each other," said Mr. Diefenbaker. "We understood each other in 1957, you and I. We understood each other better in 1958 and now having restored the constitution and the provinces' rights my appeal to you is to join with us again."

ESQUIMALT HOLDS LINE ON TAX RATE

The mill rate in Esquimalt remains the same as in the past three years after a budget meeting held by council Monday night.

Reeve A. C. Wurtle said council would hold the line at 39 mills.

The Reeve said, however, that some taxpayers would be paying more than in past years as a result of increased property assessments.

MAC BACKS U.S. BLAST IN 'RADIATION BELT'

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan today supported American plans for a nuclear explosion in the Van Allen radiation belt as part of the current American Pacific test series.

Macmillan was asked in the House of Commons for his attitude in face of protests from scientists that the high-altitude explosion might shatter a part of the belt and affect the earth's magnetic field.

Macmillan said: "Until a short time ago, no one knew that the Van Allen belt existed. If it should be now temporarily disturbed, I do not think that great harm will come to the world."

LESS WORLD TENSION

New Russ Tests To Be Expected

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—Russia's resumption of nuclear tests will not create the same critical world situation as did Soviet atmospheric tests last fall, informed sources here say.

Moscow radio said early today that the Soviet Union will start a new series of nuclear tests but did not say when.

The reasoning behind thinking here on the reaction to new Soviet tests is that Russia last fall suddenly broke a moratorium on testing during East-West negotiations on a test ban. This came right on top of the Berlin crisis.

Now the situation is that Soviet testing is expected and that Russia has not walked out of the Geneva disarmament conference and is, at the same time, at least talking with the United States about Berlin.

One result, in the opinion of some diplomatic quarters here, is that it may be more difficult politically for Canada now or in the near future to accept nuclear weapons for its forces than it would have been last year.

ON THE VERGE?

There have been indications that last fall the government may have been on the verge of announcing acceptance of nuclear weapons under some system of joint control with the U.S.

That was at the time when the Communists had built their containing wall in Berlin and had begun a series of multi-megaton nuclear weapons tests resulting in a temporarily high radioactivity count in Canada.

Now, External Affairs Minister Green and other Western diplomats have said, there is a lull.

The whole trend at the NATO council meeting in Athens last week was against the spread of nuclear weapons to countries which now don't possess them.

COLDWELL IN CITY ON MAY 25

Former national CCF leader M. J. Coldwell will campaign for the New Democratic Party in Victoria May 25.

Mr. Coldwell will speak at a meeting in Douglas Hall on behalf of local NDP candidates.

He was last in Victoria in May, 1961, during the Esquimalt-Saanich byelection campaign.

He had just announced his retirement as national leader.

Saskatchewan premier Tommy Douglas took over at last summer's founding convention of the NDP.

The Living and the Dead

MR. DIEFENBAKER HAS opened his election campaign with the dash, the eloquence and the stagecraft which have made him one of the nation's supreme platform performers. No doubt he will be received by large crowds everywhere, as he deserves to be. When the Prime Minister goes about the country the people should be eager to hear him. But from the leader of the government at a critical turning point in Canadian history they are less interested in spectacles than in facts.

The opening rally at London, a Conservative stronghold, was certainly a spectacle, long on eloquence but short on facts. Apart from his adoption of the Liberal plan for contributory old-age pensions (which the government did nothing about during the last five years) Mr. Diefenbaker offered only one new promise. The government, he said, would set up a royal commission to study Canada's taxes.

This might be useful, since our tax laws have not been basically revised for many years, but the main conclusion of any royal commission would be unavoidable: Taxes must go up and, indeed are going up at the provincial and municipal level while the federal government, postponing any increases until after the election, is still running gigantic deficits and plunging the nation deeper into debt, plus monetary inflation.

In any case, the announcement of a royal commission on taxes binds the government to nothing. The public has lost all track of the many royal commissions already at work, and the reports long filed by three of them, on the railways, the automobile industry and magazines, have simply been ignored as too unpopular.

Judging by his first major speech, Mr. Diefenbaker does not propose to fight the election on policies. He proposes to fight it on memories. He mainly attacks the St. Laurent government, which belongs to history and is hardly an issue in this election.

When he mentions Mr. Pearson, whose policies are an issue, Mr. Diefenbaker descends to the personal smear of sarcasm. The Liberal leader, he says, is "the flying saucer of politics... You can't make head or tail of him and he's never seen twice in the same place."

Is this the kind of debate that the nation has the right to expect from its Prime Minister?

Even more regrettable was his posthumous attack on a great Canadian, who is no longer here to defend himself. Mr. Diefenbaker calls the contemporary Liberal leader "bureaucratic bullies" who learned their lessons from "the old master, C. D. Howe."

Most Canadians, we suspect, would be happy to have Mr. Howe around these days, for the contrast between his administration and that of his contemporary successors is depressing. But whatever the public may think of the late Mr. Howe, he is not an issue in the election and Mr. Diefenbaker's resort to slander on him is rather pitiable. Is Mr. Diefenbaker so afraid of the living that he must smear the dead?

In fact, as anything but a spectacle, the Prime Minister's opening speech was all rather pitiable at a time like this. The campaign, however, is still young. Perhaps Mr. Diefenbaker will yet discuss the facts before us: the deficits, the debts, the higher interest rates, the financial disorder, the unemployment and the falling Canadian dollar, which is the index of all the nation's mismanagement.

First Lady Principal

IT IS OF SOME INTEREST THAT Victoria has appointed the first woman principal of a secondary school in British Columbia. It is more significant that the district has found one so able as Miss Olive Heritage for the post.

When she succeeds retiring Mr. George McChae as principal of Central High next term, Miss Heritage will be starting a new chapter in local and provincial school annals. But the duties involved will not be strange to her.

As vice-principal since 1937 she is familiar with the administrative program required by the office. And as principal of Girls' Central before that, she is accustomed to responsibilities involved. The school and the board of trustees are fortunate to have a person of her competence to fill the vacancy.

Action Against Smoke

THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT firms contravening the city's air pollution bylaw will be prosecuted causes surprise only because the bylaw has been on the city's books for a considerable time and no apparent use has been made of it.

The situation in Victoria has, in the opinion of one member of the smoked advisory committee, been allowed to continue too long. He says that eight months is ample time for local firms to have equipped their plants with proper devices to reduce smoke and ash. He is right.

Now, according to the committee chairman, action is to be taken. It is overdue.

Insurance for Hunters

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA FEDERATION of Fish and Game Clubs, at its annual convention in Kamloops, has called for compulsory liability insurance for all holders of firearms licences.

The recommendation makes sense. As isolated instances have proved, carrying firearms can be a hazardous practice. Yet, under present law, it is excessively easy and inexpensive to acquire that privilege—too easy as some cases have shown.

The point has been made by experienced hunters that serious accidents arising from careless use of guns are relatively rare in comparison to the number of people who go hunting. If that is the case, then the insurance premiums should not be high. At the same time they should act as a reminder of the hazards involved in hunting.

Should action be taken on the recommendation, it is to be hoped the scale of premiums will be flexible enough to impose stiff sanctions on those who have been involved in accidents.

FROM OTTAWA

Columbia: Frozen Till After Polling Day

SPOKEMEN for both camps have suggested that the B.C. and federal governments may have their Columbia River differences patched up June 18.

But despite the fact Justice Minister Davie Fulton and B.C. Attorney-General Robert Bonner have spoken of nearing agreement, there still are lingering doubts in some federal circles.

According to one source here the Columbia voting is "on ice" until after federal voting day.

Another highly-placed federal official has told this correspondent that it would be impossible to reach any concrete agreement with B.C.'s Premier Bennett, on disposal of downstream power benefits, before the Commons' treaty is examined in the next Parliament.

Examination

Such an examination, based on the assumption the Conservatives will win the election, has been promised by External Affairs Minister Howard Green.

The man who has been conducting Ottawa's negotiations with Mr. Bennett, Finance Minister Donald Fleming, is vague when responding to inquiries about what comes next.

"Friends" can always get together, he says in a manner apparently designed to create mystery. At this writing, however, he has no talks with Mr. Bennett planned.

Liberal Party sources anticipate some sort of joint B.C.-federal statement of progress before June 18, but they say if it comes it should be closely analyzed for election propaganda content.

The election is a dominating element of the present Columbia picture.

B.C.'s 22 electoral districts no doubt are generally interested in the Columbia scheme, but the attention of all parties will be particularly directed towards the outcome in four seats critically involved in the future of the Columbia.

They are Kootenay East, Okanagan-Boundary and Okanagan-Revelstoke, held by the Conservatives in the last parliament, and Kootenay-West, held by the CCF-NDP.

Informative

Should there be a significant move away from the government in the Tory seats, and added support for the NDP's H. W. Herridge in Kootenay-West (his defeat is difficult to imagine), a re-elected Tory government could be sure its treaty was not acceptable to the people most directly concerned.

On the other hand a confirmation of the Conservatives in their three districts would be a firm indicator to Mr. Bennett that he should tune a more receptive ear to the Ottawa position. Incidentally, rumors that Mr. Bennett might call an election of his own on the Columbia issue no longer are taken seriously here.

Kootenay-West's Bert Herridge can be safely described as a major influence in the four southeastern B.C. seats. Ever since the treaty was signed in January of 1961, he has conducted a clever and thorough campaign against it, chiefly on the ground the High Arrow dam is a curse, a give-away to the Americans, and the worst possible part of the treaty.

His campaign has extended well beyond the boundaries of his own riding, deep into the three Tory seats. He claims extensive favorable reaction. His three Tory neighbors, meanwhile, have more or less been caught between the devil and the deep blue river, unable to oppose the policy endorsed by their government in the treaty.

Even if Mr. Herridge's campaign brings indifferent results at the polls in the four-riding area, he still will be a happy man should the Liberals topple the Conservative government. For then he will have consolation in the promise of Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson to attempt a revision of the treaty.

Mr. Pearson appears to be listening closely to the argument against the treaty put up by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, who claims the development he fought so hard for has been "sold down the river" in the treaty.

In his latest statement, to The Times, Gen. McNaughton has suggested the B.C. government may no longer be so strongly opposed to his plan for Columbia development — diversion of the Kootenay into the Columbia and consequent flooding of the East Kootenay valley. He holds out his plan as a way for B.C. and Ottawa to solve their impasse, and he is confident the U.S. would accept the change.

All of these factors add up to a highly complex problem that politicians like Mr. Bennett and Mr. Fleming aren't going to solve easily during the heat of an election campaign.

True, technical experts of both the B.C. and federal governments may be able to reach more common ground, as they reportedly are now trying to do, before the election.

But the best bet is that the air won't really start to clear until June 19.

May 8, 1902 — Victoria's wishing to buy seats for the coronation procession route in London for ten shillings should apply to Sir Wilfrid Laurier who has been allotted 600.

May 8, 1922 — Paris: A high government official said today that France will not recognize the Soviet Union before the United States does.

May 8, 1942 — Allied sea squatters, Australia: Ten Japanese ships have been sunk and six damaged in the greatest naval battle of the war now in progress near here.

Fair Prices

Finally, the British government is beginning to realize that opposition from the Australians and New Zealanders may be going to be different in kind from what it had suspected mainly concerned at the moment that they should get what they call fair—prices which means considerably higher—prices for their exports of primary products.

In this the Australasians actually have allies in the French, who have always favored the idea of world export cartels in food. The Australasians are probably going to be angry with the British who would like to continue with the traditional British policy of cheap food imports if we do stay out of the market, and edge the Europeans towards themselves favoring a policy of cheap food imports if we get into it. But this is a row that will break out with the Australasians, whether Britain joins or not. The Australasians' present attitude is convincing British that reliance on "continued cheap food" imports is no longer an alternative to joining Europe, as we once thought.

All this does not mean that all is now over bar the actual signing of the Treaty of Rome. It is only from this week onwards that the really vital part of the Brussels negotiations will begin.

'With the Vague Hope That He'll Really Warm Up as the Campaign Continues'

By Victor Mackie
From London, Ontario

PRIME MINISTER JOHN DIEFENBAKER was scheduled to get his election campaign off the ground here Saturday. But in delivering a 16-point countdown speech he failed to take fire. He left his Tory supporters somewhat disappointed with the vague hope that he'll really warm up as the campaign continues.

Mackie

True the solid phalanx of Tory strength in the London Arena—the crowd was between 4,500 and 5,000—interrupted the speech many times with applause. The sweltering shirt-sleeved crowd that came to watch the Conservative campaign go into orbit gave the Tory chief a reception as warm as the weather.

But correspondents—like the writer, who accompanied Mr. Diefenbaker on his whirlwind campaigns in 1957 and 1958—did not detect the same enthusiasm that had lifted the audiences out of their seats in those hectic days. The crowd was enthusiastic but lacked the fervor of those former campaigns.

The speech had been billed as a "key-note" address of the campaign. Political reporters had been alerted to get to London for the unveiling of the new Conservative five-year program. It came as something of a surprise consequently when two hours before the meeting the word was circulated to correspondents that there would be no text.

Later, on the aircraft flying back to Ottawa, the prime minister told reporters there was no text because when he arose at 6:30 a.m. Saturday he did not know what he was going to say. He had worked on the speech bed. His battery of secretaries was typing out the notes as the specially chartered Canadian Pacific Airlines plane was winging its way to London.

The speech was a hodge-podge of things done by the Conservatives and things to be done by them if they are re-elected. In the marathon 90-minute oration he extolled his government's past record, told the Liberals as the "same old gang" of bureaucrats who had trampled on the rights of Parliament in 1956. Since then, he said they had done nothing but "whimper and wring the towel..."

The New Democratic Party socialists he dismissed as unsuccessful with their socialist venture in Saskatchewan. They had opened businesses and had to close them. He wasted little time on the new party, said nothing about the Social Crediters, concentrated his fire on the Liberals.

At one point, he said certain persons had resorted to personal attacks on him. He declared he would not reply to such attacks in kind. He was above that. Then a few minutes later he was naming and belaboring Toronto economist Walter Gordon and businessman Mitchell Sharp as the "bureaucrats" who ran the Liberal Party in 1956 and 1957 and who were still running it. He castigated them for riding roughshod over the rights and desires of Canadians.

In another breath he accused the Liberals of being the same old gang who refused to give the people what they wanted. Then shortly afterwards he was scolding at Liberal leader Pearson for having a poll taken to find out what the people wanted and promising to give it to them.

The prime minister removed his waistcoat, kept on his jacket. With his hands jammed into his jacket pockets, jaw thrust out in a familiar stance he spoke, and spoke and spoke. His speech was too long. Some 40 minutes before he concluded, groups of his audience at the back of the hall were quietly and unobtrusively making their way out into the cool night air. They had had enough.

A short, snappy speech, setting out the new program, lifting the audience out of their seats and sending them home ready to go and beat the Grits was what the Tory organizers wanted. But they didn't get it.

Only once did the prime minister let fly some election oratory that brought cheering, shouting and foot stamping from the Tories who wanted to smell blood. That was when with evident relish Mr. Diefenbaker referred to his Liberal opponents as: "The flying saucers of politics..."

There was uproarious laughter from the crowd. They settled back waiting for more of the same. But it did not come.

The locale of the prime minister's so-called opening speech of the campaign, had been carefully selected. The annual meeting of the Western Progressive Conservative Association was in progress. A chief speaker was Premier John Roberts of Ontario. The two leaders would be seen together. Premier Roberts did appear and to the satisfaction of the federal Conservatives pledged his support.

Lake's wealthy area. Hedged in between Lakes Erie and Huron it is small in size but sends 23 members to the Commons and wields a great influence politically.

Four years ago the Tories won 22 of the 23 seats in the area. They were counting on the prime minister's magic to retain those 22 seats. The 23rd seat belongs to Liberal front-bencher Paul Martin who has proven himself unbeatable.

There have been suggestions that four or five of the seats that went Tory the last time might return Liberals this time. It was Mr. Diefenbaker's job to give the party workers an "assist." But it is doubtful if his 16-point speech gave them the lift they wanted. Only June 18 will tell.

Even the royal commission on taxation announcement was not entirely a surprise. Its chief advocate Premier Roberts has been urging a complete examination of Canada's tax setup since he became premier of Ontario last fall.

The crowd gave Mr. Diefenbaker a standing ovation at the start and close of his speech. But the demonstrations were short. The applause during the speech was also of short duration. At times the audience appeared uneasy and listless after the first hour.

Finally, around the 90-minute point in his speech, he said he was going to deal later with his government's defence policy. He also indicated he would deal in more detail with the Liberal bureaucrats during the campaign.

On defence he said his government had done nothing to foster the spread of nuclear weapons and he described this as a "consistent" and "wise" approach. Then with a few more flourishes he wound up his speech. He still has the difficulty he experienced in 1957 and 1958 of ending his speeches.

On the way out this correspondent was behind two elderly gentlemen who had sat near the front. "What'd you think of it, Mac?" said the first. "Wow, it's hot," said the second.

LONDON:

Market Bargaining

By N. A. D. MACRAE

THE London Sunday newspaper, the Observer, recently rudely opined that during his visit to Ottawa Mr. Macmillan would be "uneasily conscious of the impolite desire that his host, Mr. Diefenbaker, will lose the elections in June. The present government of Canada is still the biggest single obstacle to Britain's entry into the European Common Market and joining the Market is still the British government's most urgent political objective."

The remarks about Canada partly reflect the Observer's own political prejudices, but I think that the last part of this statement has recently redoubled in truth. Whatever polite phrases Mr. Macmillan may utter during his North American visit, the impulse in the British Tory party to want to get moving into Europe has increased in recent weeks.

There have been several reasons for this. First, British Tories have been sufficiently badly battered in recent elections to fear that Labor will win the general election in 1963 or 1964 unless by then the Tories can present to the electorate the idea of a new dynamic.

Secondly, the latest public opinion polls continue to show more and more ordinary Britishers in favor of joining the Market (the latest national opinion poll in the Daily Mail showed 47.1 per cent for; 25.0 per cent against; 27.9 per cent, didn't know).

Gum Tree

The man in the street, who is inclined to favor any economic innovation nowadays, just for the change implied in it, is now moving up beside civil service opinion. Establishment opinion, and most economic opinion, which climbed on to the European bandwagon long ago.

Thirdly, the Tories are beginning to feel that they can put Labor up a gum tree about the Market. Poor Mr. Gaiskell had previously thought that in the time his party conference came round in October he would be able to say that the "issues involved in the Common Market negotiations are still very unclear" and perhaps sit firmly on the fence.

His intention was to draw up some sort of composite and pretty meaningless motion for that party conference which would be grudgingly accepted both, by his extreme left (which, with a few middle right, is violently anti-European), and by his liberal right (which, with a few strange allies from the middle left, is pretty violently pro-European), and which would therefore be applauded as wise statesmanship by the soft centre of Labor that just wants to maintain party unity at all costs.

But now it looks as if some fairly definite idea of the terms that are probably going to be available should be ready to be presented to the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference on September 10. If Mr. Gaiskell does not hammer out a Labor view about these terms he will look pretty undynamic, but if he does try to lay down a view, his party may be badly split.

Probably, say Tories hopefully, he will look and be both undynamic and party-split at once; and then electoral support may begin to swing the government.

Fourthly, middle-of-the-road Tories do not now feel that joining Europe would cause widespread ructions in their own party after all—as distinct from very noisy but relatively unimportant resignations from it. They may or may not be right about this.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — For a man determined to avoid becoming involved in the Canadian election campaign, Prime Minister Macmillan didn't fare too well.

It is true that he was most circumspect. He cancelled his press conference in Ottawa. He culled his Toronto speech of anything that might indicate even remote interest in our election. He blunted reporters' questions with such empty rejoinders as "That's all," and "We're going to lunch."

But he reckoned without his host, Macmillan's plane returning him to London was barely outside the three-mile limit when John Diefenbaker was on TV, in a paid political broadcast over Ottawa station CJOH. "My fellow Canadians," he said, "I want to talk to you about the meeting I had with Prime Minister Macmillan."

The burden of our prime minister's message was that "I have always been devoted to the Commonwealth... I was determined to do my part... I advocated the strengthening... I called for a Commonwealth trade conference... I was ridiculed by the Opposition... I contended that we should... buy more... from the U.K.... I believe (tariff preferences) must not be lightly terminated... We have informed the British government of Canada's concern... We have strengthened the British bargaining position... I have told you that many times before. It has been denied by the Opposition. Now, I am able to prove that what I told you was true."

His proof, and his answer for "the unjust, even untrue, propaganda that we have been opposed to Britain," is the communiqué issued after his meeting with Macmillan.

According to Diefenbaker's interpretation, "Britain has agreed... that if she joins the Six (the European Common Market) it will be on terms that will not permanently or detrimentally affect the trade relations which have been built up..."

This is not a well-founded interpretation of Macmillan's agreement that the U.K. will "safeguard the essential interests of Commonwealth countries."

In the first place, the communiqué was as "hard" as possible, to strengthen Britain's hand in the Brussels negotiations. It is not safe, therefore, to read more into it than the bald meaning of the wording to which Macmillan assented.

What is the bald meaning? That Britain will safeguard what Britain considers to be the essential interests of the Commonwealth countries. But they are certain to be less than what the Canadian government considers Canada's essential interests to be.

Actually Britain and Canada cannot see eye to eye on this issue because they are approaching it from different directions. Britain's concern is political — that ECM membership may weaken her voice and influence in the Commonwealth. Canada's concern is economic — that her exports may be hurt. And in fact, conference sources report there was "not much give" in Macmillan.

But the Tory campaign fund wasn't paying CJOH for airing a report to the people — it was paying for a political speech that would tell the voters of the harmony between Supermac and Superjohn, and make them forget Finance Minister Fleming's acrimonious exchanges with the British at Accra and London last year.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

By DICK WEST

George, Not Charlie

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Suppose your name were George and people kept calling you Charlie.

You might overlook the mistake a few times, but after so long a time it would begin to get on your nerves. Right?

Consider then, Dr. Leonard Carmichael, the tall, distinguished head of the Smithsonian Institution. For years, he has had to listen to people call his domain by the wrong name.

For some reason, nearly everyone calls it the Smithsonian "Institute." Even those who should know better make the error.

I don't see how Carmichael has managed to maintain his equanimity. If I were in his shoes, I would long ago have cracked under the strain and attacked someone with a stuffed owl, or whatever museum piece was handy.

Fortunately, however, Carmichael is made of sterner stuff, as witness the control he exhibited during a double-header ceremony at the Smithsonian.

At one of the rites, Carmichael accepted for the museum's permanent collection a rare 13-volume set of the first edition of the Encyclopedia Americana, published in 1829.

The presentation was made by Vincent E. Sutcliffe, president of the Americana Corp., who, in keeping with the pattern, repeatedly alluded to the Smithsonian as "Institute."

He said he used to have a secretary who "devoted her life to taking the 'toot' out of institution."

After this ceremony, Carmichael went immediately to another building to accept a plaque presented to the Smithsonian by a trade organization.

When I saw the name of the donating group, I caught my breath. It was the American Bicycle Institute. I figured its officials would mislabel the Smithsonian from force of habit.

Strangely enough, they all got the name right. It was a guest speaker, Dr. Carl A. Troester of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, who made the slip.

Carmichael let it pass, but if this sort of thing keeps up I doubt that even riding a bicycle will keep the tension from getting him.

There is only one way I can see to bring the Smithsonian's correct name into common usage. That would be for congress to pass a bill renaming it "Institute."

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Let's Add That Special Touch

Meat and potatoes will make a meal but it is the trimmings that make a meal into a treat.

You can have a garden with just petunias and marigolds and a colorful garden it would be, for these two reliable flowers form main course in many a lovely garden.

But if you look closely at a garden you really admire you will find there are trimmings which make it distinctive and attractive.

As in a fine meal, the extra need not be a rare dish, indeed it can be as simple as a piece of home made lemon pie. In the garden, the extra may be as well known as the snapdragon, or as old fashioned as stock, cornflowers, or "Cherry Pie."

The newer introductions of many of the older annuals, although they have been with us for several years, are trimmings yet to be savored by most gardeners.

Some of these newer forms are so distinct from their parents and grandparents that people wonder what they are, and in the home garden they can add that special touch that a chef gives to a meal with a dash of some commonplace herb.

But don't make the whole garden of these tidbits. No matter how delightful the desert, it is not suitable for a complete meal.

The solid meat and potatoes are the main course. The garnishing and the dessert turns the meal into something that lives long in the memory.

Look for some of these newer annuals this spring. Use them as garnishing and dessert, and make your garden distinctive and attractive for someone else to admire.

SYNOPSIS—Rain was falling over much of the Pacific northwest this morning as a disturbance off the Oregon Coast moves slowly northward. This system was expected to begin to move inland later today and while it will give some cloud to southern B.C. it seems unlikely that there will be appreciable precipitation from it.

Northern areas were mainly sunny but also saw some increase in cloud as another system moving southward from Alaska moves into the area. This second system is also weak and not likely to cause much if any rainfall.

COALITION OR WAR LAOS ALTERNATIVES

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — The Laotian pro-Communist have served notice on Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, a stubborn rightist, that he had better join a coalition government or suffer the military consequences.

This appears to be the clear message behind the Pathet

News Analysis

Laos' capture of the northwest-ern provincial capital of Nam Tha from Phoumi's forces.

The Communists would not have flouted the cease-fire in Laos so openly did they not believe that Nam Tha could be employed as a powerful lever. Phoumi, vice-premier of the Nature Walk Enjoyed By Visitors

Visitors from England and the United States as well as from Greater Victoria and Sooke were among more than 100 people who visited the Thomas S. Francis park nature house Sunday.

Many took the nature walk around the trials and viewed the fragrant clematis which thrive in the moist cone fir forest and are now at their peak.

These nature walks will be conducted each Sunday throughout the summer and the Nature House will give displays according to the season. They will be conducted by senior members of the junior branch of Victoria Natural History Society.

Vientiane government and the man who actually pulls the strings, has refused to give up the key ministries of defence and interior in the proposed coalition government of rightists, neutralists and pro-Communists to be headed by neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma.

PRESSURE PHOUMI

The United States, committed to the coalition formula, is pressuring Phoumi to withdraw his objections. U.S. financial aid has been withheld from the Vientiane government. But the general's answer has been to go off with Premier Boum Oum on an aid-begging trip to various Asian countries.

In taking Nam Tha, the Pathet Lao has not necessarily reopened the civil war in earnest. It appears to have carefully left the door ajar to new negotiations by dispatching neutralist Gen. Kong Le to Moscow.

With Souvanna Phouma in Europe, the Pathet Lao seems to have gone to some pains to picture the neutralists with clean hands as far as Nam Tha is concerned. They have not been identified as having taken part in the assault on the town.

The comparative ease with which the Pathet Lao guerrillas seized Nam Tha — it fell after only six hours of artillery bombardment and fighting — is a sharp reminder that they, and not Phoumi's troops, were on the offensive and winning when the major powers brought about a cease-fire last year.

The United States feels that a coalition government in Laos headed by neutralist Souvanna Phouma is the best of a series of bad choices.

The alternatives would be abandoning Laos to the pro-Communist rebels or moving in a big expeditionary force that would be fighting not only an elusive enemy but some of the most inhospitable terrain on earth.

FOR ALL SMOKERS

YOUR ASSURANCE OF ALL THAT IS BEST IN TOBACCO PRODUCTS

At its recent Annual meeting, Imperial Tobacco Company marked the completion of a half-century of progress and leadership: a golden jubilee of achievements. As the Company enters its second half-century, it reaffirms the philosophy of doing business which has guided its growth during the first fifty years.

This philosophy has always been to set and maintain the highest possible standards of quality. The continuing confidence of consumers of our products is the best evidence that these standards are appreciated by Canadian smokers.

The Company endeavours to secure such confidence by its manufacturing skills and research activities. Imperial Tobacco's reputation for honesty, integrity and fair dealing, its ethical standards of truth and good taste in advertising, are all in the best interests of the public and the whole tobacco industry.

Imperial Tobacco is convinced that faithful adherence to this philosophy has built the Company's good name and its many well-established brands, which guarantee full value and satisfaction for all smokers. And it is further assurance that Imperial Tobacco will continue to lead in bringing you new and worthwhile contributions to smoking pleasure.

WILSON'S 100 WONDERFUL YEARS

From a modest origin in a building of logs, to one of Western Canada's finest Clothing Businesses is the romantic history of W. & J. WILSON LTD., which this year joins the city in celebrating its 100th Anniversary! The W. & J. WILSON STORE, a familiar and friendly establishment to Four Generations of Victorians, was here in Victoria, at the very same location, when the city was incorporated. Today, enlarged and remodelled many times in the past 100 years, Wilson's is recognized still as the Popular Headquarters for Finest Woollen Imports and Quality Apparel for all the family... with a Men's Clothing Department, Men's Furnishings Department, a Ladies' Clothing Shop and a complete Junior Department. The increase of Tourist visitors to Victoria in the past years has seen the addition of a W. & J. Wilson shop in the world-famous Empress Hotel, and Wilson's have other shops in Vancouver, Banff, Lake Louise and Harrison Hot Springs. They've been 100 Wonderful Years and W. & J. WILSON LTD. is proud to stand together with Victoria and all her Citizens on the threshold of another, and greater century!

J. HAROLD WILSON
Director

In 1956, W. & J. WILSON LTD. was purchased by a group of local businessmen headed by Mr. W. R. Clark and Mr. Robert H. Thompson. Under the management of these gentlemen, together with Director and original family member Mr. J. Harold Wilson, the firm has flourished, maintaining the firmly-based policy of the founder... the policy of giving the very best in the way of quality at a fair and reasonable price. Today, W. & J. WILSON imports the finest clothing for gentlemen, ladies and children, from such Fashion Centres as London, Edinburgh, Paris, Zurich, Sweden, Denmark, Spain, Italy, Austria and West Germany. At Wilson's you will always find the very latest styles to suit the most discriminating tastes, impeccable tailoring such as you get only with the world's finest apparel, and reasonable prices popular with the families of Victoria. Wilson's staff of some 40 persons are fully trained in their particular jobs, to make your shopping and careful selection of fine clothing a pleasant and successful occasion.

When Victoria was part of a Crown Colony, when the town consisted of only 3,000 or 4,000 people, many dwelling in tents, a young man living in England was poring over The London Times' reports of gold in the Cariboo.

His imagination quickened, and he decided to come to British Columbia to seek his fortune.

The young man was William Wilson, father of J. E. Wilson and grand-father of J. Harold Wilson.

He accumulated a stock of goods in England and embarked aboard the sailing ship "Selistria" for the hazardous voyage around Cape Horn to the lonely, far-distant colony.

That was five years before Confederation and nearly a quarter of a century before the birth of the City of Vancouver.

Arriving in Victoria, the young man discovered the Cariboo was a long way off and that freight rates were heavy over the adventurous road the Royal Engineers had built. So he disposed of his stock of goods in Victoria and invested the proceeds in the acquisition of a business known as Hardy-Gillard & Company. Today, after 100 years, the location is the same, a unique and enviable record.

In 1863, a year after founding his business here, William Wilson decided to open a shop at Barkerville. A letter to England brought his brother Joseph Wilson to his side. While William was in Barkerville for four years, his brother managed the business in Victoria.

By 1868 the brothers were together again in the Victoria store and the business thrived, as the W. & J. WILSON Store was at the very hub of downtown life, situated, as it was, just opposite the Old Post Office in the days when there was no house-to-house delivery.

From the very beginning, Wilson's specialized in importations of cloth and garments from the Old Country, confident in their intrinsic worth and building the future of the business upon that innate value. And it was thus, upon a sound policy, that the business prospered.

In 1900 Joseph Wilson died, and his nephew, J. E. Wilson, who had entered the business in 1884, became manager of the store.

During the years there were ups and downs in the fortunes of Victoria, and with all of these the fortunes of the Wilson business were inevitably integrated. But the long-term trend was upward, and as the city was growing, so with it grew the Wilson business.

In 1923 William Wilson died at the age of 84, and in 1925, the third generation of the Wilson family, represented by J. Harold Wilson, entered the business, becoming manager in 1931 upon the retirement of his father, J. E. Wilson.

Many famous persons have shopped at the Wilson store in Victoria over the past 100 years as the fame of this pioneer firm spread throughout Canada, the United States, to Hawaii and the Orient beyond.

One of the most famous customers was John L. Sullivan, the then reigning heavyweight champion of the world.

Even under the duress of Two World Wars and the Great Depression of the Thirties, the firm of W. & J. Wilson managed to maintain their high standards of quality in serving the people of Victoria and the increasing number of American Tourists. Now, with stores in Vancouver, Harrison Hot Springs, Banff and Lake Louise, it stands as one of the truly great Clothing Businesses in the Pacific Northwest.

WILSON STORE HAS BRANCHES

There are branches of the main store of W. and J. Wilson Ltd. in the Empress and Vancouver Hotels, Harrison Hot Springs Hotel, Chateau Lake Louise and the Banff-Spring Hotel.

WOOL, TWEED

Store Famed for Quality

Victoria's oldest clothing business and western Canada's finest outfitters has always placed emphasis on quality goods from the British Isles.

Its fame has carried to every city in North America, mainly by word-of-mouth of visitors, some of whom travel to Victoria expressly to buy choice woolens, shoes and coats.

Through demand of women tourists wishing suits cut by English tailors from Old Country tweeds, a women's department was added to men's and children's departments.

Suits and sports coats and luxuriously soft Scottish sweaters became its staples.

To today's lines have been added a full range of accessory items such as silk scarves and hand-crafted leather handbags.

Just as tourists travel far to see what the store has to offer, so the store has branched out to meet them half way.

It is 28 years now since a summer shop was opened in the Banff Springs Hotel, and permanently-open branches are maintained in three other hotels in British Columbia.

Clothing experts often say that no store in Canada has quite the display of high quality goods shown by Wilson's.

The link with the city's history is being reformed yearly. With its origins in the days of square-riggers and Cariboo gold miners who based themselves here, the store claims customers who are descended from men who did their business with the store founder, with never a break in the family tradition.

MANAGING DIRECTOR of the store when it was sold out to a syndicate in 1956, J. Harold Wilson now is a director who maintains a personal interest in the establishment that has borne his family name so long.

'Soft Sell' Draws Praise

The staff at Wilson's store has a spirit that stems from loyalty and contentment, a store executive has said.

The statement was made 25 years ago, when W. and J. Wilson Ltd. were celebrating their 75th anniversary, but it holds equally true today.

Customers are never subjected to "high-pressure" by sales clerks. They find a quiet courteousness and willingness to please with suggestions regarding style, fabric or tailoring—fields in which the staff are expert.

American visitors, perhaps dazzled from the dynamic techniques of U.S. salesmen, particularly appreciate the "soft-sell" approach of the smiling Wilson staff.

It is not uncommon for the store to receive letters from Chicago, New York or Los Angeles expressing appreciation for the quality and reasonable prices of the goods, and for the service rendered by the staff.

Cake, Lamps, Styles Bring 'New Era' to Old Business

One hundredth birthday cake will be savored by some 500 people invited to W. and J. Wilson's party in Empress Hotel Georgian Lounge beginning at 1.45 p.m. Wednesday.

A family fashion show will open the program and will be repeated at 8.30 p.m. as the party continues.

The celebration is in appreciation of Victoria's patronage and to help mark the city's centenary, but because of limited facilities the guest list has had to be held to 500, co-owner Robert Thompson said.

The party actually starts when Mayor R. B. Wilson lights antique carriage lamps in Troughton Alley at 1.30.

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

Dear Grandma:

Sorry we didn't get to see you on the weekend but there was so much going on around here and we got our paper route to deliver and all. It's not my route, really. It's Randy's. But he keeps getting flat tires and sore feet and things like that. I don't know if the subscribers on route P11 appreciate it, but they have been getting their Times from a chauffeur-driven station wagon lately.

We just couldn't make it Saturday afternoon because there was the Kentucky Derby. Maybe you saw it on television. With your knowledge of French you may know who won it, too. That fellow who announced it—Bryan Field, his name is—doesn't speak much English. Between him and Manuel Ycaza, the dialogue sounded like a commercial for chili con carne or fried enchiladas.

When I saw Willie Hartack being interviewed after the race I knew my horse hadn't won. I liked Ridan. If he took it we were going to have top sirloin for supper; if he didn't it was hamburger. Again.

Anyhow Peter yelled at me after the race (she hadn't phoned the butcher): "What'll it be?"

"Decidedly," I replied. The sirloin sure tasted good. I saved a piece (raw) for when she gets the butcher's bill. They say nothing is better for a black eye than Grade A sirloin.

Water the Track? Don't Be Silly

You want to know what happened to Ridan? So do I. The way they boiled out of the gate you would think they were quarter horses instead of having to go a mile and a quarter. With all that pace it wasn't too surprising that they broke Whirlaway's record.

That Decidedly-sure made Eddie Arcaro look like the wrong end of a horse, didn't he? Arcaro said the record wouldn't be broken since there was nothing could carry Whirlaway's shoes. Course Eddie didn't know they were going to run themselves dizzy the first part. Nor that the track was harder than a Scot's soul. Some of the trainers complained that they didn't put any water on the track. Naturally. Only thing they water in Louisville on Derby Day is the mint juleps—fresh water and a sniff of mint for $1.25.

After the Derby, I got the paper boy's OK to take the car to the PCSSL game at Royal Athletic Park. That PCSSL stands for Pacific Coast Soccer League. They play at the convenience of the eight teams. Victoria United needed a win and they found one.

In the dressing room Wallace "Ben Casey" Milligan was pondering the casualties and wondering if he wouldn't have to recruit a few sports writers, complete with bog spavins, to fill next week's cast.

"Anything serious?" I asked.

"No," he said, grimacing like Casey. "Unless you count Barry Sadler's broken nose, Volker Stoldt's sprained wrist and Geoff Hill's 12 stitches, we're as healthy as could be."

You Always Get Out—Don't You?

Saturday night there was the annual Independent Athletic Association bun feed. Arrived late and was sentenced to the starboard end of the head table which included two RCMP chaps and Warden Henry Collins of William Head. Food was delicious but with all that law around the digestives tend to bubble a bit.

Had a pleasant chat with the warden. He invited me out to look things over. Think I'll go but if my next letter carries a strange postmark don't get excited. He says everybody gets out. Eventually.

Joined in a rousing three cheers for Stuff and Ma McGinnis. He's the fellow who gets parks, arranges schedules, finds sponsors, plans banquets, orders trophies, collects tickets and watches Ma wash uniforms for IAA.

After they presented trophies for everything but flag-pole sitting, the group repaired to the main floor of the curling club for refreshments and the Twist.

The Twist is not a new drink, Grandma. To do it you take a doll out to the dance floor and then ignore her until the music stops. When the music is going you stand in one spot and shake your chassis like I used to when you cut my locks and the hair got stuck inside my shirt.

I can't Twist very well but a couple of fellows at our table, Douglas Fletcher and Keith Dorman, promised to show me. As soon as they get out of hospital, that is.

Fathers, Lighters Come in Handy

They opened Lake Hill Little League Sunday. So we had to go. We arrived in time to hear Rev. Leo Belanger lead the boys in the L.O. oath and to listen to George Chatterton talk liberally about the government's $5 million sports fund which they aren't going to give too much to Little League.

Just as the game was going to start one of our little income tax exemptions did something which he should have done at home. I tried to conceal my "parcel" as I walked through the crowd which should have been watching the game but they weren't. The boys' powder room was locked so I snuck in the . . . and locked the door.

The genius who built the thing forgot to put in a light switch or windows. So I lit my lighter and took care of the laundry. I lost about three innings in there and when I came out our team was down 3-0. In no time at all they were behind 5-0. That's the way it ended. Then we put everybody in the paper boy's limousine and went home. For a change we didn't forget anything . . . kids, laundry, nothing.

That's the way it was with us on the weekend. Pretty dull, eh? Will write soon . . .

Your Loving Grandson.

Gorge Flashes Power In Victory Over Sooke

They say Gorge Hotel is loaded and they may be right. Making its first start of the Heywood Avenue Softball League season, Monday night, Gorge showed potent signs of power and walloped Sooke 8-2.

Stu Mitchell paced an 11-hit Gorge attack with a two-run homer.

TENNIS TIPS

By JOHN BASSETT
(Former Davis Cup player)

SERVICE TACTICS

Many tennis players in the past 10 years have reached the top rung of competition strictly because of a blistering serve.

While most racketeers do not possess such an offensive weapon, the serve may nevertheless be exploited to great advantage through placement and twist.

As a rule, the first serve should be aimed down the centre of the court, making an angled return difficult.

Should this fail, the second serve may be utilized in the same manner, or twisted to the outside of the court drawing the opponent away from the area where the server intends to hit his next shot.

On cement or clay courts, a twist serve is effective with its high bounce, but on grass, the hard serve and the slice usually prove the hardest to return.

One useful thing to remember, however—mix your serves. This gives the opponent little chance of anticipating.

DAVE KEON

TORONTO SOPHOMORE . . .

Keon Byng Trophy Winner

MONTREAL (CPI)—Sophomore Dave Keon of Toronto Maple Leafs today was named winner of the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy as the player best combining gentlemanly conduct and proficiency in the National Hockey League last season.

The stylish 22-year-old centre won the award by polling 71 out of a possible 180 points in two votes by a panel of hockey writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities.

Claude Provost of Montreal

Canadiens, the leader after the first ballot, was runner-up with 57 points. Don McKenney of Boston Bruins was third with 47.

Points were awarded on a 5-3-1 basis for first, second and third choices on each ballot. The first vote covered games up to Dec. 29 and the second on games during the second half of the season, excluding Stanley Cup playoffs.

The award carries a $1,000 prize from the league and gives Keon $5,750 in NHL bonus money for last season—tops for any player so far.

Keon, Leafs' second highest point-getter with 28 goals and 33 assists, already was assured of $4,250 since the Leafs finished second in the championship race and won the Stanley Cup in the post-season playoffs. He got another $500 for being named to the league's second all-star team last week.

Keon polled 66 of his 71 points on the second ballot. Provost collected 36 points on the first ballot, but only 21 on the second.

PICKS UP $1,000

Other players named for the award, with points bracketed, included: Red Kelly, Toronto (38); Camille Henry, New York Rangers (26); Alex Delvecchio, Detroit Red Wings (23); and Johnny Bower, Toronto (11).

Keon, who last season copped the Calder Memorial Trophy as the top rookie, became the sixth Toronto player to win the Lady Byng since the award was put up for competition in 1924-25.

Keon, born in Noranda, Que., drew only one penalty in 64 games—a two-minute minor early in the season.

UNPLEASANT SURROUNDINGS

One of perils in steeplechasing, is demonstrated by Josh Gifford, who is surrounded by hammering hooves during race at Kempton Park, near London, England. Thrown to ground when his mount, Poppetina, stumbled, jockey escaped injury as horses rushed past him to finish line.

Crushed Rocks Try New Start

Victoria Shamrocks can't erase the figures from the Inter-City Lacrosse League record books, but they are starting out tonight to prove that it was all an accident.

The figure are the ones that went into the books last week when New Westminster walloped the Rocks 23-0, marking the first team shutout in league history.

Contributing to the Irish humiliation were injuries that kept Tom Collett, Don Ashbee and Billy Gray on the sidelines and work commitments that kept Skip McKay at home. The Shamrocks admit those facts don't make excuses for the bombing and they hope to make amends tonight and Wednesday.

Booters Bid For Places On City Team

Selected players from the Victoria and District Football League tonight get their chance to bid for berths on the city all-star team which will play Sheffield United here June 4.

They will play Victoria United at Royal Athletic Park at 8.

The V & D crown will be decided at Royal Athletic Park Saturday at 2 p.m.

Numbers Try Brings Trio Fat $56,000

BOSTON (AP)—Three jet aircraft mechanics from Connecticut who bet on an engine's number are co-winners of the largest United States horse racing payoff—on a $2 ticket—$56,677.

The trio, not publicly identified, showed up at Suffolk Downs Monday to claim the money from Saturday's twin double pool.

The men said the bet was based on engine No. 246-75. There wasn't a No. 7 horse in the sixth race, so the commissioned better took the next lowest number—six. That produced the winning combination of 24-6-5.

Scroggs Leading Uplands Cup Hunt

Former City Amateur champion Frank Scroggs has the inside track on the Uplands Cup.

Scroggs, scoring 71-3-68, took a one-stroke lead Sunday in the 36-hole handicap competition for Uplands Golf Club members.

Second round will be played May 20.

Bob Moss, 76-7-69; Keith Swetnam, 80-11-69; Alec Cadell, 82-13-69; and Pat Hope, 77-8-69; share second place.

Just Like Big Arnold, Mickey Crunches Them

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mary Kathryn (Mickey) Wright ranks without question today as the Arnold Palmer of women's golf.

"Try to hit with Palmer and you're dead," says South African Gary Player. "He crunches it and, in trying to stay up with him, all you do is ruin your timing."

Which is exactly the case when the women pros go up against pretty Mickey, the long-hitting blonde from San Diego.

She and the muscular Palmer both make a liar out of the old slogan that "You drive for show but you putt for dough." Any top player will tell you that when he's using a six iron for his second shot approach and Palmer is using an eight iron or a wedge, it's a case of the closer you are the closer you get.

That long ball off the tee sets you up for those birdie approaches which, also, is the edge Mickey has against the other gals. Her tee shots average around 250 yards and she has driven the ball a measured 285 yards. That's a figure that would win some of the men's professional driving championships.

REASON FOR BIRDIES

Those long, straight drives which put them anywhere from 25 to 50 yards in front of their rivals is the reason why Palmer—and Miss Wright—also follow the same pattern of throwing a flock of birdies at the opposition at certain stages.

Mickey did it again in her last week to capture the Augusta Titleholders, the women's equivalent of the Masters, for the second year in a row. She hit Miss Jensen with birdies on three of the first five holes and shot four birds on the front nine. Her final three-under-par 69 picked up the marbles.

There is no question now but what Miss Wright dominates the women's game as fully as Palmer does the men's circuit.

FIRST TO SWEEP

Winning 10 tournaments last year, Mickey became the first woman to sweep the U.S. Open, women's PGA and Titleholders in one year. Her total of 10 tournament triumphs made her the leading money winner with $22,236. She also captured the Vare Trophy, the same as the men's Vardon Trophy for low scoring average over the year, with a 73.55 average for 87 competitive rounds. It was her second in a row.

A pro since November of 1954, Mickey in that time has won a total of $94,283. She holds the women's all-time 72-hole record of 278 and a low round of 66. This tall, willowy 27-year-old has won three opens, a trio of women's PGA titles and is the first in 20 years to win the Titleholders two years in succession.

WANTS TO BE THE BEST

Mickey's parents gave her a set of clubs when she was 11, feeling that golf was the only game for ladies. At 13 she was shooting in the 80's and at 14 captured the southern California junior title. At 17 she added the U.S. juniors and at 19 won the all-America and "world" amateur crown as well as finishing runnerup in the U.S. amateur.

"I like parties when they don't interfere with golf," she admits in her shy manner. "But I get a great satisfaction and thrill from playing golf. It's the same as an artist gets from painting a picture or a musician from giving a concert. I want to be the best woman player in the world."

GOLF SCHOOL

DO YOUR PART

Each golf club is designed for and geared to a specific job. As you go from the woods, to the long irons, to the short irons, each clubface loft increases. The greater the loft, the greater the height for each shot, and the shorter the distance.

Let the clubface do its job. If you'll do your part, the club will do its job. Your part, among other things, being the proper grip.

In today's illustration, I am hitting a little chip shot. Note how the ball is rising even though it has just been struck by the clubface. The lift of the clubface gets the ball up and into the air quickly. Just spunk the rear of the ball with the clubface.

Don't try to scoop the shot.

to get the ball up into the air. This usually winds up with a soft little bloop that falls short of the target.

Barkley Best in WHL

SEATTLE (AP)—Calgary, Sandy, of Spokane, and Ron Matthews, Portland, tied for the other defence position; Phil Maloney, Vancouver, at centre; Lou Jankowski, Calgary, on left wing, and Bob Solinger, San Francisco, on right wing. Members of the first team each got $300. Second-team members got $150.

The other two members of the team are from Edmonton's league champion Flyers and Portland Buckaroos.

Doug Barkley, Calgary ace who set a point record for defencemen, was the only unanimous choice of sportswriters and broadcasters who picked the team.

The second team has Ed Johnston, Spokane, in goal; Fred Hucul, Calgary, in one defence position with his brother,

One Victoria Victory In PNW Swim Meet

Eight-year-old Paul Crozier was the only Victoria winner in the Pacific Northwest swimming championships that wound up at Vancouver Sunday.

The Little Victoria Amateur Swimming Club splasher won the backstroke and placed second in freestyle in the girls' eight-and-under age-group finals.

Competing against 21 other Canadian and American clubs, the VASC sent six splashers into finals and placed fifth in the boys' under 10 relay, sixth in the girls' under-14 relay.

For the Victoria YMCA, which was sixth in the girls' under-13 relay, Brenda Aylward was fourth in the girls' 11-12 breaststroke final and Jim Pearce was sixth in the boys' 14-15 freestyle.

Placings by other VASC swimmers were:

Grant Treloar, third in backstroke, fourth in freestyle, boys 13-14; Mary Helen Johanson, fourth in backstroke, fifth in freestyle, sixth in medley, girls 13-14; Monty Holding, sixth in freestyle, men's

Softball Search For Young Talent

Minor league baseball teams abound in Victoria but minor league softball is non-existent. Lou McCorkill, softball buff extraordinaire, wants to correct that situation.

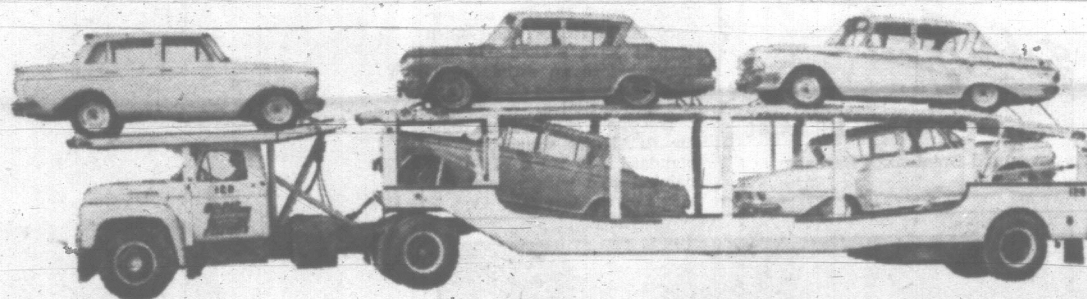

McCorkill has sounded a call for boys 16 and under at May 1. All boys interested in playing juvenile softball are urged to register at Central Park Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

Minor Lacrosse

How other major car manufacturers help us sell more Ramblers

Soon after Rambler introduced its first sensibly-sized car our competitors saw the trend we had started and went into compact car production. Despite the increased competition, they actually gave us a boost by making you more compact conscious.

Remarkable proof of this has been our success. In 1961, for instance, our sales increased by 50% over the previous year. And almost 100 new dealers joined us during the same period. This year sales are up 60% over last year.

With years of experience behind us, we are able to produce a vastly superior compact. For example: we pioneered Single-Unit construction; developed Deep-Dip rustproofing, specially for Canadian conditions and introduced the Ceramic-

Armoured muffler, guaranteed for as long as you own the car. This year we added such new features as self-adjusting Double-Safety brakes; and a battery and coolant, both with a two year guarantee.

Our policy of concentrating on major improvements rather than on useless changes, provides what we call "maximum usefulness to the user". This, we feel, is the main reason for Rambler's success.

To prove this to yourself, take a look at the so-called compacts first. Then visit your Rambler dealer. You'll have no doubt that Rambler is Canada's best all 'round car value.

Hong Kong Appeals for Aid In Huge Refugee Problem

HONG KONG (CP-AP)—The sands of refugees from Communist China have called on Canada and the United States to help the other relatively unpopulated International Council on Human Rights of the free world to Rights, said Hong Kong's call provide living space for thousands for further absorption of refugees has reached a "critical point." It said the world now must "render maximum aid in solving Hong Kong's tragic problem of the people."

The council specifically asked:

1. That Nationalist China "take immediate steps" to receive and resettle 100,000 refugees from Hong Kong during 1962-63.
2. That Canada, Australia and other countries "with vast open spaces and unexploited resources" amend their immigration laws to absorb at least a few thousand refugees from Hong Kong every year.
3. That the United States and Britain set up a joint program to temporarily resettle and educate 3,000 to 5,000 school-age children every year.
4. That the responsibility of the United Nations high commissioner for refugees be expanded to include resettlement of large numbers of Chinese refugees in other countries throughout the world.

The council's appeal came on the heels of Hong Kong's crackdown on illegal entry of refugees fleeing the mainland.

In the last month the colonial government has increased its patrols along the border and in the sea lanes used by scores of Chinese junks smuggling refugees into Hong Kong.

Refugees caught trying to enter the colony have been returned to China.

The loudest criticism has come from Formosa, which, according to information here, has accepted only about 15,000 Chinese refugees in recent years.

Hong Kong's crackdown was taken reluctantly by the government, which said it was necessary because the population had swollen beyond the colony's capacity.

FATAL SHOOTING of her husband Sunday led to the arrest Monday of Mrs. Jeanne Sampson, 40, widow of John E. Sampson, film editor who was working on the Ben Casey TV series. Police said Sampson was shot as he grappled with his wife for a revolver to prevent her suicide. Shooting which climaxed a three-day quarrel was witnessed by the couple's 10-year-old daughter Terry in their Glendale, Calif. home.

TWO SEVERELY MAULED BY ESCAPED LIONESSES

ST. CHARLES, Ill. (AP)—Two men were severely mauled and bitten Monday by two female lions which escaped from a trailer after an auto accident.

Kane County sheriff's deputies had to shoot the animals to free the men from their jaws.

Injured were Ernest Engerer, 59, of Macon, Ga., owner and trainer of the lionesses, and Thomas Benson, 36, of Aurora, Ill., a passerby. Both men were reported in fair condition in hospital.

Golden Hawks In City On May 27

The Golden Hawks of the Royal Canadian Air Force, rated among the world's top aerobatic teams, will perform over Beacon Hill Park on May 27.

The seven precision fliers, commanded by Sqd. Ldr. Lloyd J. Hubbard, are coming here on a cross-Canada tour. They will also perform at the Seattle World's Fair.

Since the unit was formed in 1959 to mark the 35th anniversary of the RCAF, the Golden Hawks have staged 173 displays before an estimated 9,000,000 persons in Canada and the United States.

The pilots, chosen from regular RCAF jet squadrons, fly standard F-86 Mark VI Sabres painted gold with special emblems on the fuselage.

Contract Loggers Hired To Hike Hillcrest Output

MESACHIE LAKE—Faced with a severely-depleted log supply due to the refusal of 70 loggers to return to work, Hillcrest Lumber Co., has employed Victoria logging contractor "Chum" Carley with 10 men to boost lumber output.

Employment of "outsiders" follows a "cease and desist" order issued by the B.C. Labor Relations Board against the Duncan-Nanaimo IWA local and its president, Weldon J. J. J.

The 70 Hillcrest loggers have been "out" since Jan. 2 when the company abolished its free bus service.

They insist on staying away from work until the free bus service is restored.

Company director Peter Stone said the firm still hopes the men will return to work.

Employment of the contractor has no bearing on the dispute, he said.

"For a long time we planned to extend our operation and the contractors are an addition to regular crew," he said.

IWA comment was not available as union officials are attending a meeting in Vancouver.

SOOKE—Sooke district school board will meet tonight to set a date for a by-election to fill two vacancies on the board.

It will probably be held early in June, according to school board officials.

The by-election is the result of the resignation of two trustees, R. J. Weir, who has moved out of the school district, and John S. Williams, who resigned as chairman of the board over a dispute involving the administrative separation of Belmont Senior Secondary School and Elizabeth Fisher Junior Secondary School.

The by-election's main issue is expected to be over whether the two schools are to have separate administrations with a principal for each.

Under the present system, the two schools have a joint principal.

City Riders Sparkle On Mainland

Local horses and riders from Victoria Riding Academy put in top performances at the Southlands Hunter-Jumper Show in Vancouver over the weekend, competing against horses and riders from the U.S., lower mainland and the Island.

First place in the Open Working Hunter class was taken by Seven-Up, ridden by Jean Dunbar. This horse and rider also tied for second place in the Open Jumping stakes.

The team consisting of Hindu Punch ridden by Pat Donaldson, Seven-Up ridden by Fred Ball, and Trader ridden by Jean Dunbar came third in team jumping, consisting of two rounds with jumps up to four feet high.

ON TRADER—Third place in Scurry Jumping, where jumping faults are changed to time faults, was taken by Jean Dunbar on Trader.

In the Conformation Hunter class, Seven-Up was first, Fen's Folly third, and Hindu Punch fourth. Fen's Folly also came third in the Hunter Hack class with Jean Dunbar up.

First team in the Three Hunters Tandem class was March Mist, ridden by Max Zimmerman, Vancouver; Fen's Folly, ridden by Jean Dunbar, and Hindu Punch, ridden by Pat Donaldson.

Pair Jumping was won by Jean Dunbar on Trader, and Fred Ball on Seven-Up in a near perfect performance. Fen's Folly, ridden by Jean Dunbar, and Hindu Punch by Pat Donaldson, were second. Hindu Punch also came fourth in the Model class.

Duncan Short Of Loggers

DUNCAN—This logging area is experiencing a shortage of skilled loggers for the first time in two years, according to R. S. Robinson, manager of the National Employment Service office here.

He said vacancies for shovel operators, logging truck drivers, rigging slingers and head loaders were difficult to fill.

In some cases, he said, unskilled workers substituted for chokermen.

350 Planes Expected For Fly-In

COURTENAY—Runway construction at RCAF Station Comox has forced cancellation of a fly-in crab feast at Kye Bay.

The Comox Flying Club, sponsors of the crab feast, will support a similar event being planned by the British Columbia Aviation Council and the Seattle Pilot's Association, for early June. About 350 aircraft are expected to take part.

Past crab feasts at Tofino have been sponsored by the Aero Club of British Columbia, which discontinued the event cause of prevailing bad weather which discontinued the event and inadequate facilities.

Brothers Meet Accidentally

COURTENAY—Two brothers out for a weekend drive met on a Courtenay street with a resultant $1,000 damage to their cars.

Harry Gergulis, 20, and his brother William, 18, collided on Fifth Street, Sunday, when William swung out to avoid a sewer construction obstacle, and then smashed into Harry.

Harry was driving his father's car.

Indians Protest Lawless 'Whites'

LOWER POST—The Whitehorse Star says Attorney-General Robert Bonner of British Columbia will be called upon to preserve law and order in this tiny Indian settlement at Mile 625 on the Alaska Highway.

It says the request will be made in a petition signed by about 35 Indian residents of Lower Post. The petition was to be delivered Wednesday by Rev. Yvon Levaque, a member of the Oblate order and principal of the Indian residential school here.

The Star adds that the petition said Lower Post "has become very lawless, as evidence by infractions and incidents over the past year or more."

"We fear the situation will deteriorate if immediate action is not taken to establish law and order. Many transients and workers from various mining communities appear to feel that the Indian people, especially young girls, at Lower Post may be abused with very little or no fear of punishment."

"As the number of transients, miners and construction workers will increase in the near future, we urgently request those in authority to provide protection for our people from the white trash and other undesirable."

PETITION DROPPED

VERNON—A Vernon mother's plan to launch a petition for the re-trial of a dispute involving the certification of a union to represent some 3,500 employees of the fruit and vegetable industry in British Columbia's Okanagan Valley.

The case, expected to be heard at the court's fall session, involves an appeal by the labor relations board of British Columbia and the B.C. Interior Fruit and Vegetable Workers Union, local 1572 (CLC) against a decision of the B.C. Appeal Court.

MOTHER CHARGED—LILLOOET—Mrs. Laura Copeland, 22, a widow whose five small children died alone in a motel fire in January, was committed Monday to county court, trial July 5. She is charged with child neglect under section 189 of the Criminal Code. The children, all under six years, were unattended when the fire broke out.

BOMBING TRIAL—NELSON—About 140 sticks of dynamite fashioned into two bombs provided the force to knock over a 300-ton power pylon at Kootenay Lake, an assize court jury was told Monday.

RCMP Staff-Sgt. W. G. Lambert said another bomb exploded after the tower collapsed and a fourth failed to explode.

He testified in the trial of nine Sons of Freedom Doukhobors charged with conspiracy to bomb the tower March 6. Six of the nine are charged with placing the bombs at the tower site.

The blasts left industry in the Kootenays crippled by lack of power.

The trial is continuing. The Supreme Court of Canada has agreed to adjudicate

The Mermaid of Copenhagen—one of the 104 cities served by KLM

What you should know about the remarkable reliability of KLM before your next flight to Copenhagen, Paris, Zurich or any of 40 other cities in Europe.

On a single trans-Atlantic flight KLM's flying crew use four different check-lists. A pre-flight, after take-off, final and pre-landing check-list. Read several other reasons why so many experienced travellers believe that the dependable Dutch have made KLM the most reliable of all airlines.

1. Your KLM crew goes to work two hours before your plane takes off. They finish about an hour after you have arrived at your destination.
2. During jet training, KLM pilots learn to land their DC-8 Jet with one engine out of action, then with two out of action. He also has to land his jet with the hydraulic steering not working. If you were sitting right beside him, you would notice nothing unusual.
3. A veteran KLM pilot sums up his job in these words: "Being a jet pilot is just like being a concert pianist. You have to keep on practising even when you're perfect."

Remarkable vote of confidence

4. More than 30 percent of KLM's maintenance work is done for other airlines—including a U.S. airline. A remarkable vote of confidence in KLM reliability.
5. When KLM maintenance crews overhaul a jet engine, they strip it down to two thousand parts.
6. A KLM jet flying across the Atlantic is allocated a block of air that "moves" with the plane. The space is 600 miles long and 120 miles wide.
7. The engines of a KLM jet are so powerful, your captain could fly from Montreal to Amsterdam with only two working.

Friendly personal attention

8. KLM economy class passengers enjoy exactly the same friendly personal attention as first class passengers do. The cuisine is simpler, of course, but comes from the same chefs and the same kitchens, and wines and other drinks are available at nominal charge.
9. If you feel like playing a game of bridge, canasta or solitaire on your KLM flight, ask your purser for a pack of cards. Or you can have a set of chessmen. They are magnetised to stay in position during take-off and landing.
10. Every KLM stewardess takes a special course in baby-care during training and loves to look after children during the flight. KLM provides many special services for young travellers.

Amsterdam advantages

11. Amsterdam's central location makes it the natural link for your European tour. It offers excellent opportunities for travel by boat, road, rail or air to all of Europe.
12. Amsterdam is the only city in Europe that offers you a honeymoon plan. For five days and four nights you will both be wined, dined and entertained for only $75.00. This cost covers four nights in a first-class hotel, continental breakfasts, four superb dinners and side trips and excursions. To qualify, you must leave for Amsterdam not later than three months after your wedding.

13. You can have an Avis rent-a-car ready for your immediate use on arrival at all of KLM's European destinations, but in Amsterdam it costs less! Example—four-seat car costs $55.65 for a week with 600 miles use.

14. Stopover in Amsterdam... KLM extends to you a year-round invitation to visit this friendly and lively capital. Get to know it and the people with the bargain "Holland Minitour". For only $3.50 or equivalent you will have a wonderful and memorable 200-minute glimpse of the historic city and its picturesque environs.

15. "Minitours" provide for a variety of interesting itineraries... visit a world-famous diamond cutter's workshop and showroom, a flower auction, a museum, the fields of flowers in springtime.

16. If you feel guilty about running off on vacation and leaving the children behind, take them to Europe too. They'll be happy to stay at a paradise for children on the sandy coast of Holland, about an hour's drive from Amsterdam Airport. It is called "Hans Brinker Huis" and it was especially chosen by KLM for junior vacationers. Children up to 12 may stay there. Two registered nurses under the supervision of a resident doctor manage the hotel.

They speak English. And the rates are lower than you would normally pay for a summer camp back home.

KLM in Canada

17. KLM has been established in Canada since 1946 and now has offices in 12 principal Canadian cities.
18. KLM has daily flights out of Montreal and New York for Europe. During the peak Summer season, you can choose from nine weekly flights from Montreal and four daily flights from New York.
19. KLM maintains a higher frequency of air cargo freighters from Europe into Canada than any other airline. Each freighter can carry a payload of up to 35,000 pounds.
20. KLM offers you a wide choice of all-inclusive tours... to suit every budget. See your Travel Agent or call KLM for complete tour information.
21. Having themselves been professionals in the field of air transportation for 43 years, KLM recognize that it takes professionals to plan trips efficiently. In every city in Canada, KLM is represented by a professional—your Travel Agent.

For further information, see your Travel Agent, contact your nearest KLM office, or mail this coupon to KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, Dept. T.I., 635 Dorchester Blvd., W., Montreal.

They Get Heart Diseases

Cats and dogs are afflicted with a variety of hereditary and acquired heart diseases. The EKG is standard veterinary practice in cases of suspected animal heart trouble.

CLINIC: Q. My young Persian, Miss Prissy, rarely drinks water. Is this harmful?

A. No. Miss Prissy is getting all the liquids she needs from her food. Keep fresh water always available, however. She'll take what she wants.

CLINIC: Q. I have a question concerning the disease known as Rabies. I have heard that dogs and foxes can get Rabies and transmit it to humans. How about cats? I have a cat and would like to know if she could get Rabies and give it to me.

A. Rabies can be contracted by all warm-blooded animals, which includes cats. The disease is transmitted to other animals and to humans by a bite from an infected animal. There are known cases of humans contracting Rabies after being bitten by infected cows and bats. If you have any suspicion that your cat may be infected, cage him or tie him up and call your veterinarian without delay.

CLINIC: Q. I own an 8-year-old female Dachshund, Freda, has received the best of care, has always been well fed and groomed. Despite this, however, the bottom of her chest is turning black. The discoloration isn't dirt, and she's not scratching it. What could it be?

A. I suspect that Freda is suffering from a common skin disorder, Acrobathosis nigrescens, usually found in Dachshunds, Alredales and German Shepherds. The blackening of the chest is caused by an accumulation of black pigments in the skin. The condition usually is chronic and is believed caused by a hormonal imbalance. Have your veterinarian examine.

ONE POET TO ANOTHER

Frost Fluffs Line Undermeyer Prompts

WASHINGTON (AP)—"My little horse must think it queer, to stop without a farmhouse near, between the woods..."

But the next words of the poem escaped the reciter.

"Between the woods..." he repeated. "And frozen lake," came a whispered voice from the audience.

With a smile, poet Robert Frost picked up the line and finished reciting "Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening," written by the 88-year-old Frost several decades ago.

The incident happened Monday night before a packed theatre in the U.S. Library of Congress.

The helpful whisper came from Louis Undermeyer, the library's special consultant in poetry.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions to select to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Harry Davis, age 11, of Rochester, N.Y., for his question:

How do radio and TV travel?

Our programs travel from faraway broadcasting stations to the radio and TV sets in our homes. They need no railroads, no trucks, no fast planes to make the journey—in fact, the fastest jet dawdles far behind them. Along the way they are silent and invisible—we walk right through them without even knowing. They leave the broadcasting stations like speeding ghosts and come to life only when we turn the right dial on a radio or TV set.

The word broadcast means to spread around in all directions. A broadcasting radio or TV station spreads out powerful streams of pulsing energy in all directions. The mighty messenger they use is electromagnetic energy. It moves in pulses called electromagnetic waves and it travels at the speed of light. This is about 186,000 miles a second—fast enough to whip around the world's equator about seven times in a single second.

The word electromagnetic suggests that this mighty energy is related to electricity and magnetism. Though we have put the great force to work for us, science is still probing its nature and we still have much to learn about it. Like gravity, which also may be related to magnetism, electromagnetism is a universal force. It pours out from the sun and from the distant stars.

A wave length is a pulse of energy up and down, so many times a second. The sun's radiant energy is a wide spectrum of smaller and larger wave lengths, traveling together at the same speed. The waves of medium length give us the visible spectrum—which is light and the colors of the rainbow. Shorter waves give us heat. Radio waves are much longer than the energy waves that carry light.

Waves Take Straight Line

A broadcasting station uses electrical power to send out carrier waves of electromagnetic energy in all directions. These carrier waves fan out in straight lines. Many of them pass on and up into space. The streams of electromagnetic energy are angled close to the earth and cannot bend around the curve of the globe. Over long distances, the waves angled near the surface are picked up and rebroadcast in a fan which takes them farther around the earth.

At the radio or TV studio, special instruments are used to make changes in the electromagnetic waves. These changes travel along with the basic carrier waves. A radio or TV set is made to capture the carrier waves and change their speeding energy into sounds and pictures. The variations in light and sound which give meaning to a program are the changes that were made in carrier waves at the studio.

Electromagnetic energy, like gravity, is a universal force. The radio-telescope is that big wire dish which captures this energy pouring forth from stars and distant galaxies. We saw TV pictures of this wonderful instrument working to spot Colonel Glenn as Friendship VII came back to earth.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Larry Bennett, age seven, of Eastman, Ga., for his question:

What causes electricity in my hair?

Your hair and everything else in the world is made from tiny atoms. And every little atom owns a certain number of tiny particles called electrons. Most of the time, the electrons stay with their atoms where they belong. But sometimes they come loose and hop from one atom to another. The energy of these moving electrons is electricity. In an electric current, this electron energy is directed through the wires.

When you give your hair a brisk brushing, some of the electrons may shake loose and rush helter-skelter from atom to atom. They make static electricity and this busy energy causes your hair to act as if it had a mind of its own. It clings to the brush, flies up and stands on end or sticks together in cowlicks all over your head.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Jackie Gleason's confident that both Art Carney and Audrey Meadows "will be working with me steady" when he resumes his Saturday night live TV variety shows on CBS next fall—so the Plump and Mustached One's just told me.

Jackie dropped this while also planning a Gleasonesque trip to Hollywood (in three private Pullmans) this month to start filming "Papa's Delicate Condition"—probably with his choice for co-starring actress, Glynis Johns.

"There'll be one sleeping car and one stay-in awake car with a jazz band," announced Jackie, "and one booze car."

Jackie's at his peak. His picture, "Gigot," just shown to the brass, may make him $1,500,000. Spyros Skouras of 20th Century-Fox, seeing it, wanted to sign him for life. He's so committed, Jackie says, with TV and films, "I can't really play golf till 1965."

Sammy Davis and wife May Britt are adopting a Negro child—a boy, Sammy told me at Sardi's party honoring him for deciding to undertake a musical comedy version of "Golden Boy" in '63 for Hill and Eklins.

"There's no problem adopting a Negro child in California—94% go unadopted," Sammy said.

I asked Sammy why he's contracted to do two years in a B-way show, and he answered, "Because my 'old lady' (May Britt) tells me I've got to stay put awhile and spend the formative years with my daughter and the boy we're adopting."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Mussolini's jazz-playing son Romano (Sophia Loren's bro-in-law) wants to work in the Manhattan cafes.

Geraldine Page was invited to a White House dinner May 11; a friend asked her out on the 9th, and she said excitedly, "Oh, no; that's only two days before the White House!"

The Novelty shops have a new button: "Live and Let Liz."

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

'Hypocritic or Hippocratic?'

Saskatchewan doctors must have sworn an oath more "hypocritic" than Hippocratic, Harold Winch of the New Democratic party suggested here Monday night.

Mr. Winch said the main reason the doctors of Saskatchewan are opposing a provincial medical scheme is to put them in a better bargaining position for the "inevitable" federal plan.

"I believe the medical profession know state medicine is inevitable," he told an election meeting here, in answer to a question from the floor.

BETTER DEAL

"They are trying to put themselves in a better bargaining position for a better deal

when it comes to negotiating on the national level. There was another reason, he suggested, although it might apply only to a minority: "If the government pays every doctor's bill there's a record and the income tax people might know exactly how much each doctor is paid."

Mr. Winch said he knew that doctors did not disagree with the principle of medical care for all, but he could not understand why they objected to the government running it.

NO RIGHT

But they had no right to "strike" any more than firemen or policemen should strike. "When you see them oppose this plan in Saskatchewan I wonder whether it isn't the hypocritic oath instead of the Hippocratic oath that they swore."

Mr. Winch said the CCF had promised medical care for 17 years, and had been re-elected on that promise.

"No government can allow an individual or a group of individuals to challenge the will of the people," he said.

9 to Try McKinley

LONDON (Reuters)—A British military team will go to Alaska in June for two months and attempt to climb 20,320-foot Mount McKinley without oxygen. The nine-man team, sponsored by the Royal Marines, is made up of four officers and five men.

TWIST? TROT? WALTZ? NDP SITS THEM OUT

Canada's political parties are seeking the pleasure of the next dance—to the polls with the public—and each has a different step, according to Harold Winch.

The Vancouver East member of the last Parliament read out the program at a New Democratic Party meeting here Monday night:

"The Liberals have the Pearson Waltz—slow, easy, dreamy.

"For Social Credit—you've got to do the Bennett-Thompson Twist—a contortionate wriggle.

"The Conservatives have the Diefenbaker Trot—one step forward and two steps back.

"The NDP don't want you to dance to anybody's tune—just want you to think."

Why Blame Federal Gov't? City MP Asked Job-Seeker

Victoria Conservative A. deB. McPhillips wrote a letter as a Member of Parliament to an unemployed constituent telling him to take his troubles to the provincial government, not Ottawa, according to Harold Winch of the New Democratic Party.

Mr. Winch read part of a photostat copy of the letter, signed by Mr. McPhillips, to a crowd of 200 at a federal election campaign rally here Monday night.

The letter was to a man in Victoria who was unemployed.

"No one is more sorry than myself," it said.

"It occurs to me that this clamor in regard to unemployment is wrongly directed.

"Under the provisions of our constitution—the British North America Act—property and civil rights are given to the provinces pursuant to Section 92 of that act.

CIVIL RIGHT

"Is not the right to gainful employment a civil right?

"Hence the first onslaught should be made upon the provincial government."

The letter then made a reference to a federal government grant for hospital insurance, apparently in reply to some query.

The letter concluded: "You know what to do—WHY DON'T YOU DO IT—instead of laying blame where no blame should belong."

NO NAME

Mr. Winch did not disclose the name of the person to whom it was addressed.

"He got so mad he had a photostat made and sent it to me," was all Mr. Winch would say.

He said the Tories had promised to solve unemployment in 1958.

"How different when you elect these people," he said when he read the letter.

The Vancouver East member of the last Parliament

DIRTY CAMPAIGN

"I'm afraid it's going to be a dirty and vicious campaign," said Mr. Winch.

He said the Liberals and Conservatives actually started what he called "guttersnipe diatribes" of their campaigns when Parliament began sitting on Jan. 17—months before the election date was announced.

DISGRACEFUL

He said the last session was "a disgrace to democracy."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker had complained the Opposition was "obstructing," that's why he called the election.

"And he's got 208 members out of 265," scoffed Mr. Winch.

Mr. Winch said the Chamber of Commerce's "Operation Freedom"—a free enterprise versus socialism campaign—was aimed at supporting the Liberals and Conservatives.

He quoted C of C newsletters which said the welfare state is "the greatest erosion of freedom."

The issue this raised for the election, he said, was "The people have to get less so they (business) can get more."

Mr. Winch criticized the Conservatives for a sudden wealth of costly projects at election time: ferries for the Gaspé Peninsula, a $10 pension increase, a $105,000,000 Prince Edward Island causeway and a $42,000,000 payment to wheat farmers.

Anyway, as soon as the pens for pensioners, by the same amount, said Mr. Winch.

"FORKED TONGUE"

Mr. Winch's parting shot was on defence. He said Mr. Diefenbaker "speaks with a forked tongue" on international affairs.

"It's sheer hypocrisy—and by hypocrisy I mean wilful and deliberate dishonesty."

COMET THE COMPACT MERCURY

Mercury Comet Custom 2-door sedan... one of Ford of Canada's fine cars, built in Canada.

Success hasn't gone to its price

The 1962 Comet repeats everything that made it the success compact of '61, but adds benefits that put it even farther ahead of the compact crowd. Comet has the fine car styling of a Mercury. Comet gives you a wheelbase 4 inches longer than most compacts. (You'll love the beautiful ride this provides.) No doubt about it: the new Mercury Comet is a compact—but doesn't look it or act it. And with all these extras it's still priced with anything else in the compact field. Size up Comet today!

Here's what keeps Comet ahead: 6,000 mile oil change cycle • 30,000 mile anti-freeze • galvanized steel body parts • double wrapped aluminum muffler • super enamel finish • choice of 85 hp. or 101 hp. engine • automatic or standard transmission • 2 and 4 door sedans and station wagons • S-22 with bucket seats and special appointments • Dealer warranted for 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first. Getting the Inside Story

By JOHN MANNING

A revolutionary new method for the investigation of heart conditions has been developed over the last few years and now is available for use by Victoria physicians.

This is a process of heart catheterization, whereby tubes visible to x-ray are passed through a vein or artery into the chambers of the heart. Blood samples are then drawn back through the tube to determine such factors as oxygen content.

Fluid opaque to x-ray can also be injected through the tube and x-ray films made which will outline the chambers of the heart as well as the large vessels connected to it.

In order to carry out these procedures many additional pieces of equipment have been acquired by the Royal Jubilee Hospital. At present these examinations are being done under difficult circumstances due to lack of space.

However, a room in the new wing of the hospital now under construction has been designed to take care of special examinations of this kind. (Continued)

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

You may have noticed there is a section in the yellow pages of the phone book headed Liquor Stores. And the first store listed, oddly enough, is that of Ganges, Salt Spring Island.

So it was that a lady from Dallas, Texas, staying at Victoria's Crest Motel, picked this number and asked the operator to get it. When the connection was made, she said:

"Will you please send a round bottle of Bourbon."

Fred Spracklin, the Ganges vendor, fairly gasped when the lady told him she was in Victoria. He said he didn't have a boat handy and, even if he had, there was no Bourbon.

Quotable quotes: "Anyone who doesn't live in British Columbia is clearly the victim of circumstances."—Prof. Tony Emery at Victoria Canadian Club.

The theory that England's landed gentry often dress shabbily is supported by an anecdote from James L. Preece of Victoria, now visiting relatives in Sussex.

It seems that "Lord Whositt" was around when some tourists were looking over his rural estate and one of them, mistaking him for one of the hired help, tipped him half a crown.

"Thank-you-very-much," grinned his lordship, pocketing the coin and shuffling off in the direction of the piggery.

There was some unscheduled laughter in the Oak Bay Theatre Saturday night when a beautiful American actress said from the screen:

"I'm from Western Canada—from Sas-kat-chee-won!"

The movie was "The Great Imposter" and part of the action took place aboard the Canadian warship Cayuga, operating out of Esquimalt during the Korean War.

About those old Victoria taverns

Ray Johnson recalls that the Manitoa on Yates had two barmaids named Lil and Mac, while the Delhi across the way was served by the "immaculate master waiter" Snowy Nelson.

The Brown Jug on Government offered free meals to customers in competition with the Bay View at the corner of Humboldt and Government and the Retreat saloon, since replaced by the Capital Theatre.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Two 11-year-old Victoria students will leave for Ottawa Thursday to represent Victoria in the national jamboree of safety patrols.

Ivan Potvin, South Park School, and Carol Randall, View Royal School, were presented their plane tickets by W. J. Clark, president of the Victoria branch, B.C. Automobile Association, Monday.

The youngsters were picked from among 1,500 Kiwanis safety patrolers who aid traffic crosswalks at 40 local schools.

Esquimalt Golden Age Club will hold a meeting in the community hall on Wednesday at 2 p.m.

To raise money for their trip to the Seattle World's Fair May 19-21, the Servers' Guild of Christ Church Cathedral will stage a variety show in the Memorial Hall next Friday at 8 p.m.

Budget Talks Near Completion

Final assault on Oak Bay's 1962 budget in efforts to hold the tax rate will be made Wednesday at a meeting of the municipal finance committee.

Reeve George Murdoch said following a late session Monday night, in which estimates were considered in committee of the whole, that only one or two items remain to be adjusted.

It is hoped that the 1961 rate will be held at 41 mills, and that increased expenditure for salaries and public undertakings will be covered by higher revenue due to increased assessment in the municipality.

Mrs. Patricia English, operator of the Esquimalt Rest Home, 1037-12th Street, used an unloaded .22-calibre rifle to catch a burglar in the basement of the home late Monday night.

She spotted the light on in the basement from her home next door at 1039, and went in to investigate.

In Esquimalt police went to day, William Badenoch, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to stealing some meat from a deep freeze in the basement of the rest home.

He was remanded to Monday for sentence.

A centennial school fair will be held at Uplands School, Henderson Road, on Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. There will be stalls of various kinds, refreshments, and an auction.

Social Credit and Liberal parties are holding federal election campaign meetings here tonight.

Social Credit meet at Central Junior High School to hear Real Caquette of Quebec, the party's deputy national leader.

Liberal candidate David Groos of Esquimalt-Saanich has a meeting in Colwood Community Hall.

Both meetings are at 8 p.m.

Former federal health minister Paul Martin will speak in support of Liberal candidate Foster Isherwood at Oak Bay Junior High School on May 15 at 8 p.m.

He is to arrive on the 345 afternoon plane at Patricia Bay Airport.

The annual meeting of the Victoria section, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, will take place tonight in Holyrood House at 6.

Miss Beatrice LeBlanc, 17, of 10, Eaton Avenue, is still reported in fairly good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital today with a fractured skull suffered in a riding mishap Sunday.

She was taken to hospital after she was thrown to the ground when the girth strap broke.

Two brothers were fined $35 each by Magistrate William Ostler in Esquimalt police court Monday afternoon when they pleaded guilty to a charge of theft under $50.

Police said that Johan and Arne Trawlan, both of no fixed address, stole five sheets of structural steel valued at about $6 from construction site of the Esquimalt Shopping Plaza.

RCAF Association, 800 Pacific Wing, will hold a bingo at the Urban Centre, Quadra and Yates, at 8 p.m. Saturday.

AT BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR VICTORIA

'Mayor Harris' to Live Again

By MICHAEL ROSE

Victoria's first mayor, Thomas Harris, will live again tonight at Saanich's birthday party for the city in the person of city insurance man Ed MacFayden.

The genial former naval gunnery officer and longtime Victoria booster will be dressed in authentic clothes of the period although he admits they were never worn by Mayor Harris.

With him, will be his wife, Bernice, as Mrs. Harris; daughter, Heather, 18, and Mrs. Daryl Elford, all in period dress.

The party, at Mattick's Farm, has been organized by Saanich as a birthday party in honor of Victoria's centenary. It will be officially started at 8 p.m. by Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes who will ride out in a horse and buggy escorted by a group of Western horsemen.

Mr. MacFayden will continue to portray Mayor Harris throughout the summer at official centennial functions.

He will be present, with others representing 1862 public figures, when the centennial office is officially opened Saturday.

As Mayor Harris, he will greet Mayor R. B. Wilson who will then sign a proclamation starting the centennial celebrations.

He has also been selected to lead the civic section in the May 24 parade.

"It is particularly suitable that 'Mayor Harris,' he said, 'since he was a farmer in the area as well as running a Victoria business."

During the provincial centenary in 1958 the then Lt. MacFayden grew a bushy gray beard but will have to wear a false one this time.

"Mayor Harris had a black beard and was bald," he said. "I hope no one expects me to shave my head."

Three Bands To Play At Sunset

Three bands of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry will carry out the sunset ceremony at the Legislative Buildings Wednesday evening, the first in the 1962 series of sunset rites.

In addition to the corps of drums of the 1st Battalion, stationed at Work Point, the Regimental Band and the 2nd Battalion Corps of Drums from Edmonton will take part.

Man Held Again On Theft Charge

VICTORIA, B.C., TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1962—PAGE 17

One of two men freed on charges of breaking and entering and theft at the Don Mee Restaurant, 538 Fisgard Street, Jan. 15, for lack of evidence, has been re-arrested on the same charge.

Francis Chan was arrested by Vancouver police Monday and appeared briefly before Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Marian Miller, 34, who was freed with Chan Feb. 27 after a preliminary hearing in city police court. He has not been arrested yet, police said at press time.

A third man, Leonard G. Bell, 24, of Glen Lake, was sent to prison for three years by County Court Judge J. B. Clearhue March 21 after pleading guilty to a charge of breaking and entering and theft at the Don Mee Co. Jan. 15.

$25,000 TAKEN

The robbery from the office of the Chinatown restaurant is the largest in Victoria for many years. Original estimates put the amount of money taken from the safe at about $12,000. However it is now thought more than $25,000 was involved.

Nine-Storey Apartment For Oak Bay

Plans for a luxurious, nine-storey, vee-shaped apartment building on the site of Oak Bay's Old Charming Inn have been approved by municipal officials.

It would be the municipality's second high-rise apartment block, two storeys higher than one under construction four blocks south, also on Beach Drive, near Victoria Golf Club.

Estimated cost of the 40-suite structure is $1,000,000.

Although plans are not fully considered, notice to a number of elderly permanent tenants of Old Charming Inn has been given and arrangements for some of them are being made in other Oak Bay accommodations.

Salvage Unit On Way Here To Lift Diesel

The picture of the scene of Monday's E&N train derailment 15 miles from Victoria remains the same today.

E&N officials said a special piece of equipment is being brought from Kamloops to aid in recovery of a second diesel which has been secured on the edge of the steep Malahat slope.

The lead diesel remains encumbered amid fir trees 105 feet down the mountain.

Re-zoning of land to increase maximum rise of buildings for site from three storeys to nine was made by council some time ago.

The only matter still to get full approval of officials is parking, of which at least 50 per cent must be underground. Arrangements for some 55 per cent of parking under ground are being considered in revised plans.

The property lies in a long, narrow shape between Beach Drive and Newport, with the point of the proposed building facing Windsor.

There would be ample setbacks from the three streets which would be landscaped.

Survey Ordered On Rebuilding Of City Hall

A $3,000 survey of City Hall will start almost immediately to decide feasibility of rehabilitating the building.

Building and grounds chairman Ald. A. W. Toone today confirmed a Times prediction several weeks ago that the study will be made.

It will take about one month to complete and will involve two local architectural firms in a consulting capacity to assist city architect Rod Clack.

The two firms are Wade, Stockhill and Armour and R. W. Siddall.

Boy Finds Delicacy Of Record Dimension

A 12-year-old Victoria boy has found what is believed to be the world's biggest specimen of a gourmet's delight—a morel.

Robby Neyts, 3826 Quadra, took it to the Provincial Museum.

The morel, a type of edible fungus, weighed 2 pounds 3 1/4 ounces.

"I think it's a world record," said Dr. Adam Szczawinski, provincial botanist.

Dr. Szczawinski said the previous world's record was also held by a Victoria morel, found in 1959. It was two pounds.

Usual size of a morel is five inches high, and a few ounces in weight.

"This one is enough for a meal for 10 people," said the botanist.

He has just written a book on edible plants in B.C., which will be off the press soon from the Queen's Printer.

Dr. Szczawinski said he was very grateful to Robby for bringing the morel to the museum.

"It helps us to keep a valuable scientific record," he said. "How did Robby know what it was?"

"I come to the museum every Saturday afternoon and study," he said.

He recognized the giant morel from models on display.

14-Year-Old Queen Of Esquimalt

Pamela Mezger, 14, 1153 Hadfield, a pupil at Esquimalt Junior High School, will be crowned May Queen of Esquimalt municipality on May 18.

Other attendants selected from candidates nominated by students throughout the municipality were Tona Lundgren, 1155 Greenwood, and Terry Dow, 3867 Carey, princesses; Terry Buchanan, 1149 Hadfield, and Jane Gillingham, 915 Sioux Place, ladies-in-waiting; Karen Blyth, 1153 Hadfield, and Rhonda Burton, 1165 Bewdley, flower girls; and Beth Turner, 1064 Colville, and Iris Holt, 1116 Norma Court, pages.

Crowning will take place in Kinsmen Gorge Park. Esquimalt High School pupils will provide entertainment.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I have been struck by the number of places in England and Wales whose names include the word Stoke—like Stoke Newington, Stoke, Limpley Stoke, and so forth. Can you please inform me of the origin or derivation of this term? A.E.G.

A. It is believed to have come from a Saxon district, Stock, which is mentioned in the Domesday Book of William the Conqueror, 1086.

Q. Being invited to the mayor's dinner for the pioneers at the Empress Hotel, do the ladies wear their hats to dinner or otherwise? M.S.

A. You don't, as a rule, wear a hat to dinner, but, if you do, it should be in the cocktail hat style.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to "The Times," addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve mathematical or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

62 Riders to Saddle Up for Centennial Trail Trek

Entries have closed for the Garden City club committee, scheduled May 25 to 28—the weekend following Victoria Day celebrations.

It will start from Beaver Lake Park at 7.30 on the morning of Friday, May 25, and end at the city hall on the following Monday afternoon.

There will be little road riding. The 100 birthday miles of the ride will cover the Highlands, Goldstream, Leechtown, Sooke Lake and Shawnigan Lake districts.

Arrangements have been made through Ronald Upward, Greater Victoria water commissioner, for parts of the ride to cover remote areas of the Sooke Lake watershed. There will be no camping or stopping in the watershed.

Campsites have been chosen at scenic places where "chuckwagon" meals will be served from clubs. Head cook is Bob Gillett, who will have a crew of club members working with him on hot, substantial meals.

Head wrangler of the ride is Stan Walt who worked with the campaign selectors to ensure suitable ground for picket lines for the horses.

In case of rain, plans have been made to sling tarpaulins over sleeping areas.

There will be campfires each night with guitar and accordion accompaniment for sing-alongs trail boss A. W. "Bud" Mesher will organize.

"With all that fresh air and exercise they'll be singing for their supper morning, noon and night," the trail boss said.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Colors Go to Your Head With Shining Result

By PENNY SAVER

A little sceptically, Penny welcomed the sunshine yesterday and began to dream of days of bareheaded comfort — no more plastic rainhats! And with the sunshine spotlighting my mousy brown hair I found I was right in the mood for those fall bottles of shampoo that promise to add highlights to any color hair. The shampoo comes in 12-oz. plastic bottles, five different shades: brown-glow, blonde-tone, red-head, silver-tone and bronze-tone. It is not a rinse or a tint but is intended to accent the color of your hair.

At present the shampoo is available for a once-a-year special price of $2, although it usually sells for $3.

Other buys to give your hair that shining glory demanded by Victoria's sunshine (written very hopefully), are the cream-conditioning shampoo and the cream rinse, both in 12-oz. plastic bottles and both selling now for $2 rather than $3.

Another product, by the same company, and carrying the delightful "once-a-year special" label is designed to combat dandruff and to do away with scalp oiliness. Described as "so delightfully fresh-scented you'd never guess its antiseptic, medicated blessings" the shampoo, when used twice a week, relieves itching due to dandruff, gives you far cleaner hair and a naturally healthier scalp.

Once again the bottle contains 12 ozs. of shampoo. It too sells for $2, although regularly $3.25.

Join me in this heady business of greeting the summer sunshine by calling Penny at EV 2-3131 to ask where I found these products.

THE BETTER HALF

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Two Days To Go on Diet—Already You Feel Better

Only two more days to go on the 9-Day Diet! I am sure that those of you who have been following it feel much happier than you did when you started. Your belts probably are feeling looser and your hearts gayer. The loss of a few, unwanted pounds certainly activates our interest in the way we look and makes us feel younger.

If you have not lost as much as you thought you would during the past six days, do not be discouraged. These last few days can make the difference and snail your loss. Women do not usually lose weight every day. Often, a few days will pass and then a loss of several pounds will show up happily on the scales.

Here are the menus for tomorrow:

Breakfast: One egg, poached or boiled. One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast. Black coffee. One glass skimmed milk.

Luncheon: One portion salmon. Celery sticks. One half cup steamed carrots. One half grapefruit.

Dinner: Minute or club steak (small). One-half cup string beans. One-half cup squash. One glass skimmed milk. Orange slices.

How to Make Corded Piping Come Out Right Every Time

"Dear Eunice: Could you please tell me how to put corded piping in the waist of little girls' dresses and still attach a full gathered skirt? I either manage to get the skirt on uneven or get the piping on uneven, with part of the stitching showing."

Mrs. E.B. Dear Mrs. E.B.: Whether the corded piping is inserted at the waistline, in a collar, or at the neckline, it is fairly simple to keep even if you use the following precautions:

1. Place a strip of bias fabric over your cording and machine stitch very close to the cording. A zipper foot is recommended for this. 2. Cut the two raw edges of the fabric five-eighths inch from the machine stitching line. 3. Baste the covered cording to your garment, with the machine stitching on the cording exactly over the seam line of your garment. 4. Machine stitch the cording to your garment on this stitching line. You can now check to see if it is nice and even. 5. Place the other section of your garment in place, whether it is the collar facing, neck facing, or skirt of a dress, and pin the other edges together. Machine stitch from the side where the previous stitching shows, using the previous stitching as a guide. It will come out perfect every time.

COLORFUL SALAD

Four cups finely shredded green cabbage, 1 large carrot, finely shredded, 1 green pepper, cut in thin strips, 3 tablespoons salad oil, 3 tablespoons vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 teaspoons celery seed, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper.

Toss vegetables in a large bowl. Mix dressing ingredients and toss with vegetables. Cover and chill to blend flavors. Makes 6-8 servings.

DEAR ABBY

Motivated Design!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I recently had the privilege of taking a nice young lady to dinner, and was very much surprised when she asked if she could butter my bread. I let her do it, since she seemed so sincere in her offer, and I must say the world would be much better off if little courtesies like this were shown more often. I am a Canadian and this lady was from the South. Is this a southern custom?

CANADA DEAR CANADA: No, it's a universal custom with all young women who know on which side their bread is buttered.

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school and would like your opinion about a ridiculous rule at our school. All the girls must shower together after each gym class. In order to receive credit, you must call the gym teacher over and show her the soap on your body! Now I am going to be 18 soon and I know when I have enough soap on me to be clean. If you refuse to follow gym rules, you can't go to gym and an "Unsatisfactory" in work habits. What do you think of this?

HUMILIATED DEAR HUMILIATED: I think this "soap survey" is a dirty trick.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please discontinue your battle against the "nervy, drop-in-type visitors." I feel complimented when someone drops in to visit me. I let people know they are always welcome to come to my home, without telephoning first. That is honest-to-goodness hospitality.

"LIKES COMPANY"

DEAR ABBY: Just had to tell you I'm with you 100 per cent when it comes to people who just "drop in" to visit. I like company—but only when I invite them.

What every wife should know about her husband!

Like most married women you probably hesitate to talk to your husband about his life insurance. You dread thinking of existing without him. Yet, much as you hate to think of it, you probably know a number of young widows who have a real problem maintaining a home and bringing up their children.

Perhaps he is aware of your reluctance to talk about life insurance—and hesitates to bring up the subject.

You owe it to yourself and to your children to discuss with your husband what his present life insurance programme would provide in income to raise your family. Further, what his permanent personal policies would be worth in case of emergencies.

We suggest you and your husband enlist the friendly and helpful advice of The Excelsior Life representative in your neighbourhood—who was selected and trained to help people with problems such as yours to plan their own "Blueprint for Security"

Planned Training Before Marriage Would Reduce Failures and Need for Many Divorces

Young people are assuming the responsibilities of marriage today without any real knowledge of its meaning.

This was given as a reason for many failures in family life by members of a discussion panel on divorce laws, held in Metropolitan United Church, Hall, Monday evening.

Other reasons included getting married too young, assuming responsibilities too quickly, no money in the bank, and arrival of a baby within the first year of marriage.

Often these young people are still having difficulty living away from their parents and their family homes and in adjusting to themselves.

"Concern here is not to find reasons for separation or divorce but ways to hold the young family together," panel member Dr. F. E. H. James pointed out.

Others taking part were Mrs. Phyllis Gravelley, executive secretary of the YWCA, marriage counsellor with Family and Children's Service, and W. E. Whiteley, Victoria lawyer.

All panelists believed that the laws should be changed to make it possible to obtain a divorce for other reasons besides adultery but at the same time they reiterated that the concern of everyone should be "not an easy divorce nor the best way to get a divorce, but to improve family relations."

Counselling before marriage is needed, Mrs. Lundy believed. Dr. James agreed and added: "All ministers are doing some counselling today, but there is definite need for a planned course of six or eight weeks. All churches should join in this course which should be concentrated on the training of young people for marriage."

Effective marriage does not begin just with the persons involved, nor with six weeks training, panel members pointed out. It goes back much further than that.

Training starts with birth, they said, with wise counselling of parents, reading the right books, and knowledge and understanding before the time comes to choose a mate.

In some families there is no instance of divorce, Mr. Whiteley pointed out, which gives credence to background and tradition.

He believed that women and women's groups could exert a great influence in changing social attitudes toward divorce and the need for planning in marriage.

Mrs. Lundy said that everyone should "work harder for preparations for marriage."

Dr. James had the last word when he said: "Every problem in human life is a spiritual problem. The greater number of family troubles are outside the church. Where husband and wife can approach their difficulties in the spirit of Christian love, problems can be solved."

"In Christian homes there is no divorce."

Discussion was sponsored by the United Church Women of Metropolitan United Church as a contribution to Christian Family Week, which ends on Sunday with family services in many churches.

Attendants Wear Printed Cottons At Harmsworth-Cameron Wedding

Four attendants preceded white silk faille, the moulded bodice re-embroidered with cut-out flowers of Alencon lace, featuring a deep oval neckline and lily point sleeves. A full skirt, slightly en train, rippled from a draped, stiffened infant's hipline, centred with a silk faille bow and outlined on either side of the panelled front with flower patterns of the lace. The three-tier veil of silk tulle misted from a crown-point coronet of seed pearls, crystals and diamante.

David Jackson was best man and the ushers were Harry Pillar and Garry Cameron.

HONOR GUARD
Victoria Girls' Drill Corps, in which the bride is a retiring member and officer, formed an honor guard as the newlyweds left the church.

Reception was held in C&C Hall, where the bride's table was covered with a lace cloth made by her grandmother, Mrs. E. Cameron, Fort William, Ont., and centred with a three-tier cake. Mr. Lott proposed the toast to his niece.

Honeymoon is being spent in Seattle, Portland and Calgary, and on return the couple will live at 566 Baker Street.

The bride travelled in a jonquil yellow wool coat dress, a cloche-shaped hat of white flowers and stiff green veiling and yellow and white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

GERMANS ASK SCRIPT OF TV HITLER SHOW

LONDON (AP)—The German embassy in London has asked for a script of a British television play which dealt with the return of Adolf Hitler.

The play Night Conspirators, written by Robert Muller, drama critic of The Daily Mail, was broadcast Sunday night.

An embassy official said Monday there had been a number of telephone calls to the embassy Sunday night from viewers who were disgusted with the play.

An embassy spokesman said the press attache's department would study it "to see whether the things we have been told are justified."

186 Butlers Checked In For Their Own Centenary

Butlers from Victoria, Vancouver Island and many parts of Canada gathered in the Saanichton Agricultural Hall Saturday night to celebrate the arrival on Vancouver Island 100 years ago of their male ancestor, Capt. George Stephen Butler.

Capt. Butler came here from England to join the Cariboo gold rush. After six years in the goldfields he returned and bought 160 acres of land in Central Saanich.

186 BUTLERS Prominent among the 186 Butlers attending the reunion were Capt. Butler's four grandsons—Claude, Lawrence, Eric and Thomas—who work together in Butler Brothers Supplies Ltd., 2046 Keating Cross Road. The business was started by their father, Claude Butler, with a single gravel pit and a team of horses.

Butlers by name and Butler by marriage, with grandchildren, great-grandchildren and in-laws, travelled to the reunion from as far east as Ontario and as far south as California.

from Alberta, the B.C. mainland, up-Island and Victoria, Saanich and Central Saanich.

TWO-YEAR JOB Plans to bring the huge family together were started nearly two years ago by a committee headed by Harry Butler of Parksville, with Wilfred, Adriah and Claude Butler of Central Saanich.

They are senior representatives of some 30 families who have remained within fairly close range of the land taken up by Capt. Butler in Central Saanich.

HUGE CAKE

A huge birthday cake, covered with centennial dollars, was cut by Mrs. May Butler Ludlow, 86—oldest surviving member of the original Butler family—who attended with her sister, Gladys Arabella Catherine Butler Gabb of Brentwood.

Oldest granddaughter at the reunion was Mrs. Winnifred Snider from Clayne, Ont. Vincent Butler, a grandson living in Victoria, arranged the entertainment and acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Jack Crossley, another granddaughter, carried out the decorations.

A tape recording of the party is to be made into phonograph records for distribution among the Butler family.

Mrs. Pearl Butler, widow of Capt. Butler's son Claude, entertained the whole family to tea at her home at 2060 Keating Cross Road on Sunday.

"It was a really wonderful reunion," she said, "and it brought together cousins who haven't seen each other for 50 years or more. The children also had a great time."

Art Exhibit Successful

The Saanich Peninsula Art Centre held its annual art show at the Sidney Hotel over the weekend.

The show, opened by Arthur Corry, was one of the most successful to date, with exhibits being sent in from many parts of the Island.

Brian Travers-Smith was the guest painter. Interesting demonstrations of paper-mache work and portrait sculpture were given by Pearl Maas and Kenneth Bloomfield. Lightening pastel portraits by Phyl Sinclair were also much in demand.

Educational TV Series Wins Award

A B.C. government school television series has won a North American award for educational programs.

The series, Patterns of Living, was shown to intermediate science classes last fall. It was produced for the education department by the CBC.

The programs won a prize at the Institute for Education by radio and TV in Columbus, Ohio.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said he was particularly pleased because the department has only been making TV programs for two years.

Adults' Day School Called Major Need

Rapid expansion of the local adult education program has resulted in the need for the establishment of a continuing day school for adults in Victoria, similar to that opening in Vancouver in July, according to Mrs. A. B. Thompson, chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board.

The Vancouver Board of School Trustees is turning King Edward Secondary School into a Continuing Education Centre. From July, senior matriculation classes for regular students and adults, as well as pre-matriculation classes, will be held at the former high school. An extensive commercial program for adults 19 years of age and over also will be conducted there.

FIRST IN CANADA

This is the first such school in Canada. Mrs. Thompson said that the rapidly increasing enrolment in local adult education classes shows that people in Victoria are aware of the need for an enlarged program.

"Academic classes, particularly in English and mathematics, are expanding here just as rapidly as recreational or vocational classes," she said.

Under the chairmanship of school trustee Richard Reeve a committee is exploring the possibilities of establishing a plan similar to that undertaken in Vancouver. Mr. Reeve is also chairman of the adult education committee for the B.C. School Trustees' Association.

Though the board sees the need for establishing eventually a separate institution for continuing adult education, Mr. Reeve said that a program in Victoria might use an adjunct to an existing high school at first.

B.C. AID NEEDED

It is felt, however, that increased provincial aid, particularly to the academic field, is necessary before the board can afford to set up a continuing school of this kind. Such an institution allows for more independent study by students, and a relaxation of a number of regulations such as notes for absences.

Night school classes still would be available for those taking one or two courses only.

Erb Asked to Quit

REGINA (CP)—The Milestone CCF-NDP Constituency Association said Monday it has asked its member, J. Walter Erb, to resign his seat. Mr. Erb, public works minister and former minister of public health, quit the provincial cabinet and the CCF-NDP last week.

Canadians Don't Value Own Talent, Says Emery

Canada is beginning to produce outstanding artists, actors, writers and musicians, but there is no real demand for their talents in Canada, did stagecraft.

Prof. Tony Emery of Victoria College told the Men's Canadian Club on Monday: "This is a terrible thing," he said, "since it means they must go to other countries for recognition. There are some artists who wouldn't live anywhere else but Canada, but the majority go where they are most appreciated."

RARELY HERE

Prof. Emery mentioned Christopher Plummer as an outstanding Canadian actor, well recognized in London and New York but rarely seen in Canada.

"If we recognized his worth we would build a Canadian national theatre around him right now," he said.

Speaking to the question "Who Wants Culture?" Prof. Emery said the majority of Canadians do not appreciate the tremendous feats performed by their countrymen in the realm of fine arts, drama, literature and music.

He defined culture as "a true expression of the spirit of the people" and the artist as "a purveyor of beauty."

DEMAND NEEDED

"Artists only produce art because somebody wants it," he declared, "and Canada will not produce great artists until there is a big demand for their talents as part of our normal way of life."

"With the talent we have, we should be able to develop a truly Canadian culture in which we can give expression to all those things which separate man from the beast."

Prof. Emery said the great periods of history were as conspicuous for artistic achievement as for material progress. "Shakespeare wrote great plays because the Elizabethans wanted them... Today I have no doubt he would be writing outstanding comedies and tragedies for TV. He was a fine craftsman and he would have mastered this medium as he did stagecraft."

Canada, he said, had no literature in the true sense. It had many good writers but not really great writers—and the reading public was largely to blame.

"There is a deep-rooted suspicion among most Canadians that anything Canadian cannot be very good artistically. They wait until an artist has been acclaimed elsewhere before they recognize him."

"This is a tragedy."

1.6 Mill Rate Boost Set by City Council

Least Hike Of All Local Areas

By JOHN MIKA

City council today set a centennial year tax levy totalling 55 mills—up only 1.6 mills from last year.

Council emphasized that this would cost the taxpayer only $14,000 more than last year—virtually equal to a $125,000 wage increase this year and a drop in property assessments.

Aside from those two factors, council was able to squeeze an extra $50,000 for centennial celebrations and $50,000 for urban renewal out of roughly the same funds it used to operate the city last year.

$55,000 CUT
Aldermen sliced thin amounts from a wide assortment of votes, and boosted one revenue estimate, to reduce the expenditure requirement by $55,000—bringing Friday's 2.2 mill increase down by 6/10ths of a mill.

City officials pointed out that mill rates were not an accurate comparison of the four municipal budgets here because assessments went down in the city and up in the others.

They said the total tax dollar increases levied on ratepayers would make a good guide—pointing to the $544,000 tax dollar increase in Saanich this year, and $86,000 in Esquimalt. Oak Bay's figures are unknown.

"Our increase in dollars taken from taxpayers this year is only one-third as high as in Saanich and not much more than in Esquimalt," the mayor said later.

LOWEST BOOST
City controller-treasurer James Bramley did not work out the percentage increases but it was obvious that Victoria might have the lowest relative increase this year.

That's because its $147,000 tax increase looks modest alongside a total budget over $10,000,000—more than the combined budgets of the other three municipalities.

Correspondingly, Esquimalt's $86,000 increase comes on top of a budget totalling only $835,500, enabling the municipality to collect more dollars while using the same 29 mills it levied last year.

BORROWING PLAN
Council beat back a drive by Ald. Arthur Dowell and Ald. M. H. Mooney in the closing minutes of the session aimed at cutting the city budget still further and asking ratepayer consent to borrow for various new projects.

Ald. J. L. W. McLean said that would only result in taxpayers paying more for the same services. He said borrowing should be restricted to big one-time projects such as the proposed $800,000 Blanshard Street extension.

FURY REACHES PEAK

(Times News Services)

ALGIERS—Angered over the wave of terror killings in the Algerian rebel government will broadcast orders to Moslems Wednesday that may call for wiping out the European Secret Army.

The scheduled broadcast from Tunis by rebel President Ben Youssef Ben Khedda reflects the mounting fury of Algerian leaders over the daily slaughter of Moslems in Algiers and Oran by European terrorists of the Secret Army.

A rebel spokesman said Ben Khedda would announce "directives" to put into effect the cease-fire agreement signed by France and the Algerian nationalists. He said they might deal with "liquidation" of the Secret Army.

The European terrorists resumed their attacks early today, killing 16 Moslems in Algiers and wounding 11 others within a few hours. One European also was wounded.

Witnesses said three of today's casualties were Moslems sitting drinking wine on a curb in central Algiers, who were shot at by other Moslems. One was killed and two were wounded.

REASON UNCERTAIN
It was not known whether their attackers were working for the Secret Army or were simply attacking their fellow Arabs for drinking wine in defiance of the Moslem ban on alcohol.

The terrorist Secret Army Organization for the first time Monday singled out Moslem women for attacks.

Of the 30 persons killed throughout Algeria during the day, four of them were white-robed Moslem women. Their deaths stretched already-taut Moslem nerves even tighter.

Previously any male Moslem who ventured into a European neighborhood was taking his life in his hands. But Moslem women had been relatively safe.

LYNCH EUROPEAN
About 300 Moslems surged out of the Casbah Monday and lynched a European before being driven back by French riot police. At least eight Europeans were kidnapped, apparently by Moslems.

In Tunis, well-informed Algerian sources said a new Franco-Algerian conference may be needed to decide on how to combat the Secret Army, but the sources said there was no question of unilateral action by the Algerians.

IN 'STUPID FRAME OF MIND'
Barbara Takes Long Walk

LONDON (Reuters)—Marathon walker Dr. Barbara Moore, 58, was sent to jail today for contempt of court.

Maj. - Gen. Sir Kenneth Buchanan, who lives in the same building as Dr. Moore at nearby Frimley, had applied for the committal order. He alleged that by putting flower pots, stones and a notice board in the forecourt of the building, Dr. Moore had broken an interlocutory injunction restraining her from interfering with his right to passage through the forecourt.

Dr. Moore, who conducted her own case, was in tears when she told the judge she "would rather go to prison" than remove the offending objects.

The judge said:

"I make the order with some regret because I am satisfied that Dr. Moore is in a stupid frame of mind at the present moment."

"When she has given a little more thought to the solitude which will fall upon her when she gets to Holloway (women's) prison she will no doubt come back to the court and give an undertaking to remove these stones, pots and notice board."

Just how long she will be in the prison was not disclosed.

Kennedy said "I speak with a single voice to the men on both sides of the nation's bargaining tables when I say that your sense of responsibility—the responsibility of both labor and management to the general public—is the foundation on which our hopes must build for the survival and success of the free enterprise system."

The president told the United Auto Workers convention his administration would not undertake to fix prices and wages in a peacetime economy, but that it must define goals and point out the national interest.

"But we possess and seek no powers of compulsion," said Kennedy, adding that the U.S. government must mainly rely on the voluntary efforts of labor and business to hold the price line.

SAME STANDARD
Thus within a month of his successful battle to force big steel to rescind its price increases, Kennedy has advised labor the same standard will be applied to wage increases—the public interest.

But as he tried to soothe businessmen's concern over his steel price tactics eight days ago when he spoke to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Kennedy today attempted to allay labor's concern over his administration's close patrolling of wage contracts.

"We have no intention of intervening in every labor dispute," he said. "We are neither able nor willing to substitute our judgment for the judgment of those who sit at every local bargaining table in the country."

The government must rely on a sense of public responsibility and Kennedy told the 70-MILE HOUSE, B.C. (CP)—A baby of six months and his six-year-old sister burned to death and three other children and a baby-sitter escaped when fire destroyed their log-cabin home at this remote community 70 miles northwest of Kamloops.

RCMP reported today that Kerry Barling, six months, and Cory Barling, six years, died in the Monday night fire which levelled the log cabin.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Barling, were in Kamloops at the time of the fire.

Cost of Living Soars To Record High Mark

OTTAWA (CP)—Living costs rose to a record high in April as the consumer price index advanced to 130.3 on April 1 from 129.7 on March 1.

The rise of six-tenths of a point in Canada's yardstick of prices, reported today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, was the sharpest monthly increase since the fall of 1960.

The April 1 index level of 130.3—based on 1959 prices equalling 100—compares with 129.1 a year earlier. The month's increase followed four months of relative price stability during which the previous record high of 129.8 was set in December and February.

Higher food and health-care costs were the main factors behind the latest increase. But five of the seven component parts of the over-all price increase were higher—food, clothing, transportation, health and personal care, and tobacco and alcohol.

HOUSING COSTS SAME
There was no change in the index of housing costs, which represents 32 per cent of the household budget covered by the consumer price index.

Food prices advanced sharply, with the index jumping to 125.8 from 124.4, with price tags higher on most fruits and vegetables, beef, some pork items, chicken and bread. Prices were lower for eggs, frozen orange juice, fresh tomatoes, chocolate bars and fats including butter.

The rise in the over-all price index followed a strong increase in industrial wages during February. The index of average hourly earnings rose to 130.3 from 129.7 in February. Contract Loggers
Pulled Out

DUNCAN — The Hillcrest Lumber Co. at Mesachie Lake today withdrew from the woods a private contractor and his 10 men who were employed Monday to boost the company's depleted log supply.

This is the latest development in the drawn-out transportation dispute between the company and the Duncan-Naimo IWA local.

Fleeter Stone, president of the company, said the outside workers were withdrawn when 18 union loggers who live in the camp refused to work if Victoria logging contractor "Chum" Carley and his men were allowed to work.

The 18 loggers did not go back to work after the contractor had withdrawn his men, but held a meeting with union officials, according to reports.

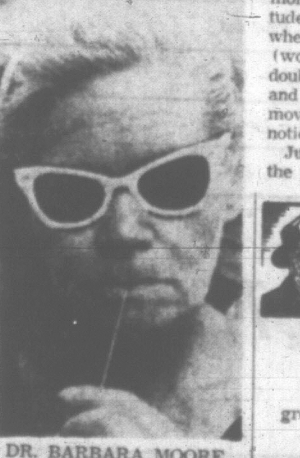

Weldon Jubenville, president of the IWA local, declined to comment.

But he reported he met regional members of the association in Vancouver Monday and the union is now considering its next move.

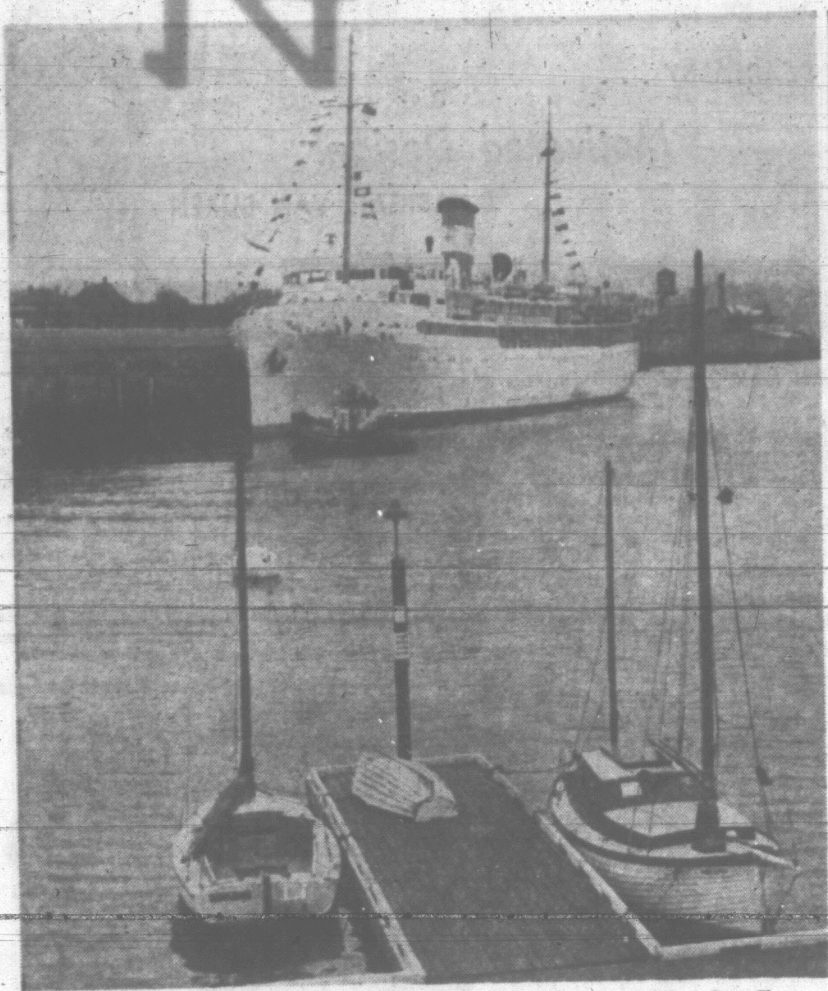

The dispute arose in January when the company withdrew its free bus service between Duncan and Hillcrest. Since then 70 loggers have refused to return to work until the service is restored.

HERE ... AND THERE With NORMAN CRIBBENS

You may have noticed there is a section in the yellow pages of the phone book headed "Liquor Stores. And the first store listed, oddly enough, is that of Ganges, Salt Spring Island.

So it was that a lady from Dallas, Texas, staying at Victoria's Crest Motel, picked this number and asked the operator to get it. When the connection was made, she said:

"Will you please send a round bottle of Bourbon." Fred Spracklin, the Ganges vendor, fairly gasped when the lady told him she was in Victoria. He said he didn't have a boat handy and, even if he had, there was no Bourbon.

Quotable quotes: "Anyone who doesn't live in British Columbia is clearly the victim of circumstances."—Prof. Tony Emery at Victoria Canadian Club.

The theory that England's landed gentry often dress shabbily is supported by an anecdote from James L. Preece of Victoria, now visiting relatives in Sussex.

It seems that "Lord Whositt" was around when some tourists were looking over his rural estate and one of them, mistaking him for one of the hired help, tipped him half a crown.

"Thank-you-very-much," grinned his lordship, pocketing the coin and shuffling off in the direction of the pig pen.

There was some unscheduled laughter in the Oak Bay Theatre Saturday night when a beautiful American actress said from the screen:

"I'm from Western Canada—from Sask-at-chee-won!" The movie was "The Great Impostor" and part of the action took place aboard the Canadian warship Cayuga, operating out of Esquimalt during the Korean War.

About those old Victoria taverns Ray Johnson recalls that the Manitoba on Yates had two barmaids named Lil and Mac, while The Delhi across the way was served by the "immaculate master waiter" Snowy Nelson.

The Brown Jug on Government offered free meals to customers in competition with the Bay View at the corner of Humboldt and Government and the Retreat saloon, since replaced by the Capitol Theatre.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Two 11-year-old Victoria students will leave for Ottawa Thursday to represent Victoria in the national jamboree of safety patrols.

Ivan Hovind, South Park School, and Carol Randall, View Royal School, were presented their plane tickets by W. J. Clark, president of the Victoria branch, B.C. Automobile Association, Monday.

The youngsters were picked from among 1,500 Kiwanis safety patrolers who did traffic crosswalks at 40 local schools.

Esquimalt Golden Age Club will hold a meeting in the community hall on Wednesday at 2 p.m.

To raise money for their trip to the Seattle World's Fair May 19-21, the Servers' Guild of Christ Church Cathedral will stage a variety show in the Memorial Hall next Friday at 8 p.m.

Budget Talks Near Completion

Final assault on Oak Bay's 1962 budget in efforts to hold the tax rate will be made Wednesday at a meeting of the municipal finance committee.

Reeve George Murdoch said following a late session Monday night, in which estimates were considered in committee of the whole, that only one or two items remain to be adjusted.

It is hoped that the 1961 rate will be held at 41 mills, and that increased expenditure for salaries and public undertakings will be covered by higher revenue due to increased assessment in the municipality.

Mrs. Patricia English, operator of the Esquimalt Rest Home, 1037 Lyall Street, used an unloaded .22-calibre rifle to catch a burglar in the basement of the home late Monday night.

She spotted the light on in the basement from her home next door at 1039, and went in to investigate.

In Esquimalt police court today, William Badenoch, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to stealing some meat from a deep freeze in the basement of the rest home.

He was remanded to Monday for sentence.

A centennial school fair will be held at Uplands School, Henderson Road, on Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. There will be stalls of various kinds, refreshments, and an auction.

Social Credit and Liberal parties are holding federal election campaign meetings here tonight.

Secrets meet at Central Junior High School to hear Real Caouette of Quebec, the party's deputy national leader. Liberal candidate David Groos of Esquimalt-Saanich has a meeting in Colwood Community Hall.

Both meetings are at 8 p.m. Former federal health minister Paul Martin will speak in support of Liberal candidate Foster Isherwood at Oak Bay Junior High School on May 15 at 8 p.m.

He is to arrive on the 3:45 afternoon plane at Patricia Bay Airport.

The annual meeting of the Victoria section, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, will take place tonight in Hollywood House at 6.

City Harbor's S-Bends Shake 'Hotel' Skipper

"Never in my life have I seen a harbor with so many S-bends!" exclaimed Captain Stanley Fidel in his cabin this morning.

The skipper of the Mv. Yarmouth ran his fingers through his hair at breakfast as harbormaster Capt. Ron Newell tried to persuade him that Victoria's inner harbor wasn't really so bad.

"At midnight, we make Cape Flattery," said Capt. Fidel, "and we wait all night for light to come into the harbor. With a pilot. With a tug. And there is not even anyone to catch the lines."

"What if there had been the rains, the winds?"

172 ABOARD

There were 172 passengers on the 400-passenger Yarmouth when it docked, all going to the Seattle World's Fair by bus from Victoria, by way of Anacortes, with the intention of meeting the vessel in Seattle. There it will serve as a "floating hotel," with food and sleeping accommodation.

Of Panamanian registry, the vessel is prohibited by the Jones Act from plying between two U.S. ports, and so has to include Victoria in its San Francisco-Seattle run.

DRAWS 18 FEET

The Yarmouth draws 18 feet of water, about four more than the vessels usually tying up at the CPR wharf where she lay for about two and a half hours, and is about the size of the Mv. Princess Marguerite.

AT BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR VICTORIA

Mayor Harris' to Live Again

By MICHAEL ROSE

Victoria's first mayor, Thomas Harris, will live again tonight at Saanich's birthday party for the city in the person of city insurance man Ed MacFayden.

The genial former naval gunnery officer and longtime Victoria booster will be dressed in authentic clothes of the period although he admits they were never worn by Mayor Harris.

With him, will be his wife, Bernice, as Mrs. Harris; daughter, Heather, 18, and Mrs. Daryl Elford, all in period dress.

The party, at Mattick's Farm, has been organized by Saanich as a birthday party in honor of Victoria's centenary. It will be officially started at 8 p.m. by Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes who will ride out in a horse and buggy escorted by a group of Western horsemen.

Mr. MacFayden will continue to portray Mayor Harris throughout the summer at official centennial functions.

He will be present, with others representing 1862 public figures, when the centennial office is officially opened Saturday.

As Mayor Harris, he will greet Mayor R. B. Wilson who will then sign a proclamation starting the centennial celebrations.

He has also been selected to lead the civic section in the May 24 parade.

"It is particularly suitable that 'Mayor Harris' attend the Saanich party," he said, "since he was a farmer in the area as well as running a Victoria business."

During the provincial centenary in 1958 the then Lt. MacFayden grew a bushy gray beard but will have to wear a false one this time.

"Mayor Harris had a black beard and was bald," he said. "I hope no one expects me to shave my head."

Man Held, Again On Theft Charge

One of two men freed on charges of breaking and entering and theft at the Don Mee Restaurant, 538 Fisgard Street, Jan. 15, for lack of evidence, has been re-arrested on the same charge.

Francis Chan was arrested by Vancouver police Monday and appeared briefly before Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Marian Miller, 34, who was freed with Chan Feb. 27 after a preliminary hearing in city police court. He has not been arrested yet, police said at press time.

A third man, Leonard G. Bell, 24, of Glen Lake, was sent to prison for three years by County Court Judge J. B. Clearhugh March 21 after pleading guilty to a charge of breaking and entering and theft at the Don Mee Co. Jan. 15.

$25,000 TAKEN

The robbery from the office of the Chinatown restaurant is the largest in Victoria for many years. Original estimates put the amount of money taken from the safe at about $12,000. However it is now thought more than $25,000 was involved.

When Bell, Miller and Chan were arrested shortly after the robbery, police found some $3,200 in bills and silver in their possession.

TRIAL NEEDED

After Miller and Chan were freed, lawyer Jack Gatehouse started proceedings to get the court to free this money for his clients.

Lee Gan, operator of the Don Mee Co., opposed this and Judge Clearhugh ruled there would have to be a trial to decide ownership.

The applications were adjourned Monday when it was learned new warrants had been issued for the arrest of both Chan and Miller.

Chan appeared in court today and was remanded to May 23 for election for trial and preliminary hearing.

Magistrate Ostler said he would withdraw from the hearing as he had heard the evidence before, despite assurance by prosecutor Kenneth Murphy—who has been retained by the attorney-general's Department—that he and defence counsel H. A. D. Oliver of Vancouver had no objections.

Boy Finds Delicacy Of Record Dimension

A 12-year-old Victoria boy has found what is believed to be the world's biggest specimen of a gourmet's delight—a moré.

Robby Neyts, 3826 Quadra, took it to the provincial Museum.

The moré, a type of edible fungus, weighed 2 pounds 3 3/4 ounces.

"I think it's a world record," said Dr. Adam Szczawinski, provincial botanist.

Dr. Szczawinski said the previous world's record was also held by a Victoria moré, found in 1959. It was two pounds.

Usual size of a moré is five inches high, and a few ounces in weight.

DELICACY

Regarded as a rare delicacy in Europe, the moré is found in extremely damp areas of rich soil—often around garbage heaps.

14-Year-Old Named Queen Of Esquimalt

Pamela Mezger, 14, 1153 Hadfield, a pupil at Esquimalt Junior High School, will be crowned May Queen of Esquimalt municipality on May 18.

Other attendants selected from candidates nominated by students throughout the municipality were Tona Lundgren, 1155 Greenwood, and Terry Dow, 3867 Carey, princesses; Terry Buchanan, 1149 Hadfield, and Jane Gillingham, 915 Sioux Place, ladies-in-waiting; Karen Blyth, 1153 Hadfield, and Rhonda Burton, 1165 Bewdley, flower girls; and Beth Turner, 1064 Colville, and Iris Holt, 1116 Norma Court, pages.

Crowning will take place in Kinsmen Gorge Park. Esquimalt High School pupils will provide entertainment.

"This one is enough for a meal for 10 people," said the botanist.

He has just written a book on edible plants in B.C., which will be off the press soon from the Queen's Printer.

Dr. Szczawinski said he was very grateful to Robby for bringing the moré to the museum.

"It helps us to keep a valuable scientific record," he said. How did Robby know what it was?

"I come to the museum every Saturday afternoon and study," he said.

He recognized the giant moré from models on display.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I have been struck by the number of places in England and Wales whose names include the word Stoke—like Stoke Newington, Stoke Poges, Limpley Stoke, and so forth. Can you please inform me of the origin or derivation of this term? A.E.G.

A. It is believed to have come from a Saxon district, Stoca, which is mentioned in the Domesday Book of William the Conqueror, 1086.

Q. Being invited to the mayor's dinner for the pioneers at the Empress Hotel, do the ladies wear their hats to dinner or otherwise? M.S.

A. You don't, as a rule, wear a hat to dinner, but, if you do, it should be in the cocktail hat style.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Three Bands To Play At Sunset

Three bands of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry will carry out the sunset ceremony at the Legislative Buildings, Wednesday evening, the first in the 1962 series of sunset rites.

In addition to the corps of drums of the 1st Battalion, stationed at Work Point, the Regimental Band and the 2nd Battalion Corps of Drums from Edmonton will take part.

The latter two units are in Victoria to take part in the annual trooping of the color ceremony at Work Point Barracks, at 2 p.m. Saturday with an open dress rehearsal at 2 p.m. Thursday.

The three bands will march to the Legislative Buildings at 8 p.m. Wednesday and begin the actual retreat ceremony at 8:40 p.m.

The trooping of the color Saturday will be reviewed by Maj.-Gen. J. M. Rockingham, general officer commanding, Western Command. Admission will be by invitation only, but at the dress rehearsal Thursday—identical except for the reviewing officer—5,000 seats are available to the public on a first come, first served basis.

The general public also will have a chance to hear the 50-piece regimental band at Beacon Hill Park, starting at 7 p.m. Friday. The band, on its first visit here since prior to the Second World War, will play a 90-minute concert in the bandshell.

Salvage Unit On Way Here To Lift Diesel

The picture at the scene of Monday's E&N train derailment 15 miles from Victoria remains the same today.

E&N officials said a special piece of equipment is being brought from Kamloops to aid in recovery of a second diesel which has been secured on the edge of the steep Malahat slope.

The lead diesel remains encumbered amid fir trees 105 feet down the mountain.

STILL OUT

The track is still out at this point—300 yards from Niagara Canyon.

"We intend to bring the diesel up, but it will be a long job, how long I just can't say," the E&N spokesman said.

Nobody was hurt in the early Monday crash, although three trainmen rode the diesel down as it crashed through the forest before coming to a halt.

Survey Ordered On Rebuilding Of City Hall

A $3,000 survey of City Hall will start almost immediately to decide feasibility of rehabilitating the building.

Building and grounds chairman Ald. A. W. Toone today confirmed a Times prediction several weeks ago that the study will be made.

It will take about one month to complete and will involve two local architectural firms in a consulting capacity to assist city architect Rod Clark.

The two firms are Wade, Stockhill and Armor and R. W. Siddall.

62 Riders to Saddle Up for Centennial Trail Trek

Entries have closed for the Garden City Horsemen's Club-sponsored 100-mile Centennial Year trail ride, and by coincidence the total is 62.

"We did not plan it that way," said Roy Jewell, chairman of the organizing committee, "but we think it is appropriate to have this number for the '62 birthday year."

Included in the entries are riders and horses from Seattle, Vancouver, Alberni, Parksville, Nanaimo, Duncan and southern Vancouver Island districts.

"The interest has been greater than we anticipated, and there is a good chance the ride will become an annual event," Mr. Jewell said.

The ride, sanctioned by the Victoria Centennial Committee, but organized entirely by the Garden City club, is scheduled May 25 to 28—the weekend following Victoria Day celebrations.

It will start from Beaver Lake Park at 7:30 on the morning of Friday, May 25, and end at the city hall on the following Monday afternoon.

There will be little road riding. The 100 birthday miles of the ride will cover the Highlands, Goldstream, Leechtown, Sooke Lake and Shawnigan Lake districts.

Arrangements have been made through Ronald Upward, Greater Victoria water commissioner, for parts of the ride to cover remote areas of the Sooke Lake watershed. There will be no camping nor stopping in the watershed.

Campsites have been chosen at scenic locations where "chuckwagon" meals will be served from trucks. Head cook is Bob Gillett, who will have a crew of club members working with him on hot, substantial meals.

Head wrangler of the ride is Stan Walt who worked with the campsite selectors to ensure suitable ground for picket lines for the horses.

In case of rain, plans have been made to sling tarpaulins over sleeping areas.

There will be campfires each night with guitar and accordion accompaniment for sing-songs, trail boss A. W. "Bud" Mesher will organize.

"With all that fresh air and exercise they'll be singing for their supper morning, noon and night," the trail boss said.

FOOD PRICES GAIN

OTTAWA (CP)—Living costs rose to a record high in April as the consumer price index advanced to 130.3 on April 1 from 129.7 on March 1.

The rise of six-tenths of a point in Canada's yardstick of prices, reported today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, was the sharpest monthly increase since the fall of 1960.

The April 1 index level of 130.3—based on 1959 prices equalling 100—compared with 129.1 a year earlier. The month's increase followed four months of relative price stability during which the previous record high of 129.8 was set in December and February.

Higher food and health-care costs were the main factors behind the latest increase. But five of the seven component parts of the over-all price increase were higher—food, clothing, transportation, health and personal care, and tobacco and alcohol.

HOUSING COSTS SAME

There was no change in the index of housing costs, which represents 32 per cent of the household budget covered by the consumer price index.

Food prices advanced sharply, with the index jumping to 125.8 from 124.4, with price tags higher on most fruits and vegetables, beef, some pork items, chicken and bread. Prices were lower for eggs, frozen orange juice, fresh tomatoes, chocolate bars and fats including butter.

The rise in the over-all price index followed a strong increase in industrial wages during February. The index of average wages rose 0.5 per cent.

Contract Loggers Pulled Out

DUNCAN — The Hillcrest Lumber Co. at Mesachie Lake today withdrew from the woods a private contractor and his 10 men who were employed Monday to boost the company's depleted log supply.

This is the latest development in the drawn-out transportation dispute between the company and the Duncan-Nanaimo IWA local.

Hector Stone, president of the company, said the outside workers were withdrawn when 18 union loggers who live in the camp refused to work if Victoria-based contractor "Chum" Carley and his men were allowed to work.

The 18 loggers did not go back to work after the contractor had withdrawn his men, but held a meeting with union officials, according to reports.

Weldon Jubenville, president of the IWA local, declined to comment.

But he reported he met regional members of the association in Vancouver Monday and the union is now considering its next move.

The dispute arose in January when the company withdrew its free bus service between Duncan and Hillcrest. Since then 70 loggers have refused to return to work until the service is restored.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy won a victory today in the first congressional skirmish over his controversial trade program. The action came when the house ways and means committee defeated by voice vote an attempt to limit to three years any new presidential tariff-cutting powers.

FINAL BULLETINS

Boy, 14, on Trial for Murder

TORONTO (CP)—Judge Margaret Chambers has opened her juvenile court to the press for the capital murder trial of a 14-year-old boy charged in the stabbing death of a 15-year-old girl.

Judge Chambers said she felt the case was of public interest, but she ruled the boy must not be identified in any news reports.

Centaur Failure Hits Space Program

The fiery explosion several thousand feet above Cape Canaveral dealt a severe setback to United States plans of developing the high energy Centaur.

Adenauer Sees Danger in Berlin Talks

BERLIN (AP)—Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany said today he sees no use in going on with the United States-Soviet talks in Berlin and indicated that it might be dangerous to prolong them.

"I see no ground for continuing the talks," he told a press conference.

FURY REACHES PEAK

(Times News Services)

ALGIERS—Angered over the wave of terror killings since the March 18 cease-fire, the Algerian rebel government will broadcast orders to Moslems Wednesday that may call for wiping out the European Secret Army.

The scheduled broadcast from Tunis by rebel President Ben Youssef Ben Khedda reflects the mounting fury of Algerian leaders over the daily slaughter of Moslems in Algiers and Oran by European terrorists of the Secret Army.

A rebel spokesman said Ben Khedda would announce "directives" to put into effect the cease-fire agreement signed by France and the Algerian nationalists. He said they might deal with "liquidation" of the Secret Army.

The European terrorists resumed their attacks early today, killing 16 Moslems in Algiers and wounding 11 others within a few hours. One European also was wounded.

Witnesses said three of today's casualties were Moslems sitting drinking wine on a curb in central Algiers, who were shot at by other Moslems. One was killed and two were wounded.

REASON UNCERTAIN

It was not known whether their attackers were working for the Secret Army or were simply attacking their fellow Arabs for drinking wine in defiance of the Moslem ban on alcohol.

The terrorist Secret Army Organization for the first time Monday singled out Moslem women for attacks.

Of the 30 persons killed throughout Algeria during the day, four of them were white-robed Moslem women. Their deaths stretched already-taut Moslem nerves even tighter.

Previously any male Moslem who ventured into a European neighborhood was taking his life in his hands. But Moslem women had been relatively safe.

LYNCH EUROPEAN

About 300 Moslems surged out of the Casbah Monday and lynched a European before being driven back by French riot police. At least eight Europeans were kidnapped, apparently by Moslems.

In Tunis, well-informed Algerian sources said a new Franco-Algerian conference may be needed to decide on how to combat the Secret Army, but the sources said there was no question of unilateral action by the Algerians.

U.K. Asks 'On Spot' Laos Probe

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts of Britain discussed the Communist capture of the Laotian town of Nam Tha with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today.

In a meeting arranged on instructions from the British foreign office, Roberts and Gromyko met for 20 minutes. Britain and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference on Laos.

(In London Monday the foreign office described the capture of the strategic town as a "serious breach" of the Laotian cease-fire. It said it hoped the Communists would allow the three-nation international control commission—India, Poland and Canada—to make an on-the-spot investigation.)

VIETNAME (AP)—The defence ministry announced tonight that pro-Communist forces are chasing remnants of the royal garrison of Nam Tha southwestward on the road toward Hanoi. The government's last stronghold in northern Laos.

Government forces were crushed in a three-hour battle Monday at their rendezvous point at Vieng Phou Kha, which is 40 miles southwest of Nam Tha, a commune said. As a result, it added, "our troops, harassed by a long forced march, withdrew" farther toward Hanoi. A garrison town opposite the northern tip of pro-Western Thailand.

CITY TAX RATE JUMPS 1.6 MILLS

Lowest Increase Of Local Areas

By JOHN MIKA

City council today set a centennial year tax levy totalling 55 mills—up only 1.6 mills from last year.

Council emphasized that this would cost the tax-paying public only $147,000 more than last year—virtually equal to a $125,000 wage increase this year and a drop in property assessments.

Aside from those two factors, council was able to squeeze an extra $50,000 for centennial celebrations and $50,000 for urban renewal out of roughly the same funds it used to operate the city last year.

$55,000 CUT

Aldermen sliced their amounts from a wide assortment of votes, and boosted one revenue estimate, to reduce the expenditure requirement by $55,000—bringing Friday's 2.2 mill increase down by 6/10ths of a mill.

City officials pointed out that mill rates were not an accurate comparison of the four municipal budgets here because assessments went down in the city and up in the others.

They said the total tax dollar increases levied on ratepayers would make a good guide—pointing to the $544,000 tax dollar increase in Saanich this year and $86,000 in Esquimalt. Oak Bay's figures are unknown.

"Our increase in dollars taken from taxpayers this year is only one-third as high as in Saanich and not much more than in Esquimalt," the mayor said later.

City comptroller-treasurer

James Bramley did not work out the percentage increases but it was obvious that Victoria might have the lowest relative increase this year.

That's because its $147,000 tax increase looks modest alongside a total budget over $10,000,000—more than the combined budgets of the other three municipalities.

Correspondingly, Esquimalt's $86,000 increase comes on top of a budget totalling only $835,500, enabling the municipality to collect more dollars while using the same 39 mills it levied last year.

BORROWING PLAN

Council beat back a drive by Ald. Arthur Dowell and Ald. M. H. Mooney in the closing minutes of the session aimed at cutting the city budget still further and asking ratepayer approval to borrow for various new projects.

Ald. J. L. W. McLean said that would only result in the taxpayers paying more for normal expansion of city services because of interest charges.

He said borrowing should be restricted to big one-time lifetime projects such as the proposed $800,000 Blanshard Street extension.

LIFTON MURDER TRIAL

Wild Shooting Told to Court

VANCOUVER (CP)—An Assize Court murder trial witness told today how empty cartridge shells hit him and sprayed around him during a blazing gun battle in a hotel room.

Airlines official Paul Egley was testifying at the capital murder trial of Eric Lifton, 22, of New Hampshire.

Egley was one of three men who went to Room 528 at the Bayshore Inn where Lifton was registered Feb. 9 and the only one to come out alive.

City detective Larry Short and assistant hotel manager Larry Kingston were killed in the gun battle.

Lifton is on trial for the murder of Short and has pleaded not guilty.

The 12-man jury was told Lifton was booked into the hotel under an assumed name and that the three men went to interview him in connection with attempts to obtain plane tickets.

Egley said he was using the phone when Short stopped him and said Lifton had a gun. The witness said Lifton pointed the gun at himself and Short and said:

"This gun has got eight slugs in it."

Egley said Lifton spoke calmly and deliberately.

Egley told prosecutor T. G.

Bowen-Coulthurst, Short maintained a running conversation with Lifton attempting to have him put the gun down.

SPOKE CALMLY

He said both spoke calmly and did not seem excited.

"The accused said 'I have done worse things than this.' Short said nothing could be worse than killing," testified Egley.

Egley said Lifton told them to lie face down on the floor. He said as they were getting down either Short or Kingston said he had children.

"The accused said he had none. Detective Short said 'Well, have you no mother?' I don't remember the reply," Egley said.

The witness, said Lifton, asked them how he could get

JFK Hits Unfair Labor Demands

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—President Kennedy told U.S. labor today that "unjustified wage demands which require price increases" are as much against the interests of the United States as "unjustified profit demands which require price increases."

Kennedy said "I speak with a single voice to the men on both sides of the nation's bargaining tables when I say that your sense of responsibility—the responsibility of both labor and management to the general public—is the foundation on which our hopes must build for the survival and success of the free enterprise system."

The president told the United Auto Workers convention his administration would not undertake to fix prices and wages in a peacetime economy, but that it must define goals and point out the national interest.

"But we possess and seek no powers of compulsion," said Kennedy, adding that the U.S. government must mainly rely on the voluntary efforts of labor and business to hold the price line.

SAME STANDARD

Thus within a month of his successful battle to force big steel to rescind its price increases, Kennedy has advised big labor the same standard will be applied to wage increases—the public interest.

But as he tried to soothe businessmen's concern over his steel price tactics eight days ago when he spoke to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Kennedy today attempted to allay labor's concern over his administration's close patrolling of wage contracts.

"We have no intention of intervening in every labor dispute," he said. "We are neither able nor willing to substitute our judgment for the judgment of those who sit at every local bargaining table in the country."

Cancer Operation By A-Knife

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP)—The first operations on cancer tumors with the invisible "atomic knife" have been performed here, an official announcement said today.

The operations took place at the Gustaf Werner Institute at Uppsala University, where the world's first "atomic knife" operation on the brain was performed early in 1958.

"We have treated about 15 cases of uterine cancer," said Professor John Naeslund, former head of the academic clinic at the Uppsala University.

The atomic knife consists of an atom smasher, which produces protons. The protons—positively charged particles in the nucleus of an atom—flash out in a ray at an approximate speed of 100,000 miles an hour.

The proton ray is used as a surgeon's scalpel. It is invisible and does not hurt. The ray is directed through a 70-foot horizontal tube into the operating room where the patient is alone. The operation is directed and followed by surgeons through a television monitor.

Barbara Takes Long Walk

LONDON (Reuters)—Marathon walker Dr. Barbara Moore, 58, was sent to jail today for contempt of court. Maj. Gen. Sir Kenneth Buchanan, who lives in the same building as Dr. Moore at nearby Frimley, had applied for the committal order. He alleged that by putting flower pots, stones and a notice board in the forecourt of the building, Dr. Moore had broken an interlocutory injunction restraining her from interfering with his right to pass through the forecourt.

RIGHTIST

Acting Foreign Minister Sisouk Nachampassak said Rebel Lao troops were within 20 miles of Houei Sai.

He said the pro-Communist troops were "pushing their way" from Nam Tha along the road to Houei Sai, 100 miles to the southwest, indicating that they had covered 80 miles in two days since they captured Nam Tha, a provincial capital.

Sisouk did not pinpoint the identity of the advancing troops but he had claimed earlier that at least 10 North Vietnamese and Red Chinese battalions took part in the attack on Nam Tha.

U.S. sources said there has been a Communist offensive in the fighting at Nam Tha, 20 miles south of the Chinese border. They said Pathet Lao troops included Chinese-speaking Lu tribesmen.

Dr. Moore, who conducted her own case, was in tears when she told the judge she "would rather go to prison" than remove the offending objects.

The judge said: "I make the order with some regret because I am satisfied that Dr. Moore is in a stupid frame of mind at the present moment."

"When she has given a little more thought to it in the solitude which will fall upon her when she gets to Holloway (women's) prison she will no doubt come back to the court and give an undertaking to remove these stones, pots and notice board."

Dr. Moore, who conducted her own case, was in tears when she told the judge she "would rather go to prison" than remove the offending objects.

Army Dismissal For Smuggling

OTTAWA (CP)—S. Sgt. William John Harry Hockman, 38, today was dismissed from the armed services for his part in smuggling opium and heroin into Indo-China last year with the international truce supervisory commission. The sentence was the heaviest imposed so far on any of the soldiers involved.

Earlier two corporals were demoted to privates and given severe reprimands by their commandant in Indo-China.

Egley testified he suggested Lifton pull the telephone cord from the wall, but the accused said this had been tried before and had not worked.

Egley said they followed Lifton's instruction explicitly. "The accused said 'My hand is getting nervous. Perhaps I had better put the safety on,'" Egley testified.

He told the court that Lifton was the only one he heard speak again before the shooting started.

"The last words I heard 'What are you doing?' It was in a little more excited tone than the normal tone he had been using," said Egley.

"There was another pause and then the shooting began. Empty cartridge cases were hitting me on the back of the head and in front of me the noise was almost deafening."

"After about six shots I felt I was hit in my back. I felt a very slight sharp pain in my back," Egley said.

The witness said he thought he heard about eight to 10 shots. He said the shots were irregular and not in rapid succession.

Egley said he lay as still as he could during the shooting. When it ceased, he saw the accused throw his gun on a chair and then pick up a gun that was on the floor.

Egley said Kingston was motionless, but short was still moving on the floor as Lifton fled from the room.

Indians Protest Lawless 'Whites'

LOWER POST—The Whitehorse Star says Attorney General Robert Bonner of British Columbia will be called upon to preserve law and order in this tiny Indian settlement at Mile 625 on the Alaska Highway.

It says the request will be made in a petition signed by about 35 Indian residents of Lower Post. The petition was to be delivered Wednesday by Rev. Yvon Levaque, a member of the Oblate order and principal of the Indian residential school here.

The Star adds that the petition said Lower Post "has become very lawless, as evidenced by infractions and incidents over the past year or more."

"We fear the situation will deteriorate if immediate action is not taken to establish law and order. Many transients and workers from various mining communities appear to feel that the Indian people, especially young girls, at Lower Post may be abused with very little or no fear of punishment."

"As the number of transients, miners and construction workers will increase in the near future, we urgently request those in authority to provide protection for our people from the white trash and other lawless elements."

PETITION DROPPED

VERNON—A Vernon mother's plan to launch a petition for the re-trial of Charles Heathman, twice convicted and later acquitted of the slaying of her son is expected to be abandoned.

Mrs. Ada Oliver, mother of 10-year-old Donald Otley, slain here Sept. 2, 1960, said Monday a petition may not be necessary in view of steps being taken in court in Vancouver.

Heathman appeared in police court in Vancouver earlier Monday where two psychiatrists recommended that he be committed to a mental institution because of an "uncontrollable urge to kill."

MOTHER CHARGED

LILLOOET—Mrs. Laura Copeland, 22, a widow whose five small children died alone a dispute involving the certification of a union to represent some 3,500 employees of the fruit and vegetable industry in British Columbia's Okanagan Valley.

The case, expected to be heard at the court's fall session, involves an appeal by the labor relations board of British Columbia and the B.C. Interior Fruit and Vegetable Workers Union, local 1572 (CLC) against a decision of the B.C. Appeal Court.

MOTHER CHARGED

in a motel fire in January, was committed Monday to county court trial July 5. She is charged with child neglect under section 189 of the Criminal Code. The children, all under six years, were unattended when the fire broke out.

The Mermaid of Copenhagen—one of the 104 cities served by KLM

What you should know about the remarkable reliability of KLM before your next flight to Copenhagen, Paris, Zurich or any of 40 other cities in Europe.

On a single trans-Atlantic flight KLM's flying crew use four different check-lists. A pre-flight, after take-off, final and pre-landing check-list. Read several other reasons why so many experienced travellers believe that the dependable Dutch have made KLM the most reliable of all airlines.

1. Your KLM crew goes to work two hours before your plane takes off. They finish about an hour after you have arrived at your destination.
2. During jet training, KLM pilots learn to land their DC-8 Jet with one engine out of action, then with two out of action. He also has to land his jet with the hydraulic steering not working. If you were sitting right beside him, you would notice nothing unusual.
3. A veteran KLM pilot sums up his job in these words: "Being a jet pilot is just like being a concert pianist. You have to keep on practising even when you're perfect."

Remarkable vote of confidence

4. More than 30 percent of KLM's maintenance work is done for other airlines—including a U.S. airline. A remarkable vote of confidence in KLM-reliability.
5. When KLM maintenance crews overhaul a jet engine, they strip it down to two thousand parts.
6. A KLM jet flying across the Atlantic is allocated a block of air that "moves" with the plane. The space is 600 miles long and 120 miles wide.
7. The engines of a KLM jet are so powerful, your captain could fly from Montreal to Amsterdam with only two working.

Friendly personal attention

8. KLM economy class passengers enjoy exactly the same friendly personal attention as first class passengers do. The cuisine is simpler, of course, but comes from the same chefs and the same kitchens, and wines and other drinks are available at nominal charge.
9. If you feel like playing a game of bridge, canasta or solitaire on your KLM flight, ask your purser for a pack of cards. Or you can have a set of chessmen. They are magnetised to stay in position during take-off and landing.
10. Every KLM stewardess takes a special course in baby-care during training and loves to look after children during the flight. KLM provides many special services for young travellers.

Amsterdam advantages

11. Amsterdam's central location makes it the natural link for your European tour. It offers excellent opportunities for travel by boat, road, rail or air to all of Europe.
12. Amsterdam is the only city in Europe that offers you a honeymoon plan. For five days and four nights you will both be wine, dine and entertained for only $75.00. This cost covers four nights in a first-class hotel, continental breakfasts, four superb dinners and side trips and excursions. To qualify, you must leave for Amsterdam not later than three months after your wedding.

13. You can have an Avis rent-a-car ready for your immediate use on arrival at all of KLM's European destinations, but in Amsterdam it costs less! Example—four-seat car costs $55.65 for a week with 600 miles use.
14. Stopover in Amsterdam... KLM extends to you a year-round invitation to visit this friendly and lively capital. Get to know it and the people with the bargain "Holland Minitour". For only $3.50 or equivalent you will have a wonderful and memorable 200-minute glimpse of the historic city and its picturesque environs.

15. "Minitours" provide for a variety of interesting itineraries... visit a world-famous diamond cutter's workshop and showroom, a flower auction, a museum, the fields of flowers in springtime.
16. If you feel guilty about running off on vacation and leaving the children behind, take them to Europe too. They'll be happy to stay at a paradise for children on the sandy coast of Holland, about an hour's drive from Amsterdam Airport. It is called "Hans Brinker Huis" and it was especially chosen by KLM for junior vacationers. Children up to 12 may stay there. Two registered nurses under the supervision of a resident doctor manage the hotel.

They speak English. And the rates are lower than you would normally pay for a summer camp back home.

KLM in Canada

17. KLM has been established in Canada since 1946 and now has offices in 12 principal Canadian cities.
18. KLM has daily flights out of Montreal and New York for Europe. During the peak Summer season, you can choose from nine weekly flights from Montreal and four daily flights from New York.
19. KLM maintains a higher frequency of air cargo freighters from Europe into Canada than any other airline. Each freighter can carry a payload of up to 35,000 pounds.
20. KLM offers you a wide choice of all-inclusive tours... to suit every budget. See your Travel Agent or call KLM for complete tour information.
21. Having themselves been professionals in the field of air transportation for 43 years, KLM recognize that it takes professionals to plan trips efficiently. In every city in Canada, KLM is represented by a professional—your Travel Agent.

For further information, see your Travel Agent, contact your nearest KLM office, or mail this coupon to KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, Dept. T.1, 635 Dorchester Blvd., W., Montreal.
